REASSURE SEC'Y. KNOX

Latin-American Ministers Hurry to Assure Knox That all is at Peace

OTHER WASHINGTON DOINGS

WASHINGTON, FEB. 8.—Movements of United States warships to Central America, which became known to day, put the Central American legations here into a state of flutter and sent the Latin-American ministers hurrying to assure Secretary Knox that all was tranquil in their countries. Before noon practically all the ministers had communicated with the state department to inquire the reason for the movement and to disclaim existence of any conditions indicating trouble. To all queries the same answer was returned—that the naval movements were merely precautionary and in large part inspired by information of activity of revolutionary juntas in this country. At any rate the state department was unaffected by any of the representations as was evident by the fact that in addition to the four warships either under way or about to be ordered to Central America the Gunboat Tacoma, at Boston was also added to the list and her commander was instructed to hold his ship in readiness to relieve or enforce the vessels on the Atlantic Coast of Central America. It was estimated in official quarters that the purpose of the naval movement was to maintain the status quo in Central America so far as that can be done by the restraining influence of the warships until the incoming administration has had an opportunity to define its policy and decide upon its attitude toward the Pan-American Republics. Authentic reports of threatened uprisings, coincident with the change of the administration in this country determined Secretary Knox to guard American interests by having a strong American naval force at strategic points. It was pointed out to day that his action does not in any way commit the incoming administration which of course may withdraw the warships at once if that course is regarded desirable.

Engraving Will Begin At Once.
Secretary MacVeagh to day ordered the engraving of the plates for the new one dollar treasury notes. It will require 18 months to put into circulation this new paper money which will be two thirds the size of existing currency.

The Secretary gave his unqualified approval to the design for the face of the note produced by treasury officials and the design for the back created by Kenyon Cox, the New York artist.

Mr. Cox's design also was approved by the fine arts committee. Simplicity is the characteristic of both designs.

They are the first outside of the United States to encourage the use of English among the inhabitants. All blanks and certificates will be printed in that language.

To Aid Hog Cholera Fight.
Senator Cummings offering an amendment to day on the agricultural appropriation bill, proposed a comprehensive state and federal campaign for the elimination of hog cholera, a disease against which the federal government has been fighting for many years. Senator Cummings has asked for an appropriation of $100,000 to enable the government and the states to co-operate along definite lines of joint activity.

Will Work Longer Hours.
Spurred the approach of the end of the session of congress and congestion of bills, the house again agreed to meet Monday at 10:30 a. m., an hour and a half earlier than usual and it is probable that night sessions will begin early in the coming week. Meantime the tariff framing work, on which the date of the extra session of congress hinges is progressing favorably in the ways and means committee. The Democrats of that body are now considering the flax, hemp and lute schedule. The majority members of the committee are devoting the days and nights to the conferences and study of thousands of paragraphs of the tariff. The whole tariff plan, it was stated tonight will be ready to bring into the house by April 1st.

Between 500 and 600 scouts will aid in taking care of those who require medical assistance either among the marchers or among the spectators. Their special duty will be to aid the ambulance corps.

Indian Suffragettes.

This is said to be the first time Indian women have taken part in a national movement for extending the franchise to women.

In Dawn Mist's troop will be ten maidens, all said to be the most representative of their tribes.

All will be dressed in their tribal ceremonial costumes and be mounted on Indian ponies richly compared with elaborate Indian head gear. Dawn Mist who has given much thought to the woman suffrage movement succeeded in obtaining the co-operation of Louis R. Hill, son of James J. Hill who has agreed to provide transportation for the young women. While in Washington, the Indian girls will live in their own tents on a camp provided for them.

The cavalry division of the pageant is taking large proportions. It is believed that 200 mounted maidens, that nearly 200 mounted maidens will be distributed through the procession.

Illinois Costume White and Gold.
Chicago, Feb. 8.—Gold and white are to be the costumes of the Illinois delegation of suffragists in the national parade in Washington, March 3. The first one was brought to headquarters here from the costumes today.

White, broadcloth is the foundation with trimmings of gold braid and nine blue stars—for the nine suffrage states—as the only note of color. An especially beautiful costume is being designed for Mrs. George W. Trout, president of the Illinois society, who will carry the banner. The costume consists of a white stole trimmed with gold braid. On the front of the stole is the word "Illinois". On one end, which is to be tossed over the shoulder, are embroidered the blue stars. A jaunty little cap of white and gold is made to sit well down on the head, leaving just room for a few curls to show in front. Each marcher will carry a white pennant with "Illinois" embroidered on it in gold.

Display of the costume aroused enthusiasm at headquarters and caused a rush to enroll for the great parade.

PRESIDENT SPEAKS AT UNIVERSITY CLUB

TAFT BIDS FAREWELL TO WASHINGTON COLLEGE MEN

Hears Himself Characterized by Col. Harvey as "the Worst Licked, the Least-Sore, and the Best Liked of All Presidents"

WASHINGTON, FEB. 8.—President Taft said his farewell to Washington college men tonight at the annual dinner of the University club, of which he is a member.

In recognition of his services as first president of the University club, President Taft was presented with a golden key to admit him at all times to the newly opened club house. Just before Mr. Taft arose to accept the gift he heard himself characterized by Colonel George Harvey of New York, as "the worst-licked, the least-sore and the best-liked of all our presidents."

Col. Harvey Speaks.
Colonel Harvey spoke of the relationship of the university to public service.

"Here we have a university about to confer a president upon the country and the country in gracious requital about to bestow a president upon a university," he remarked. "Theoretically it would seem to be a fair exchange. Meanwhile we have a yet more striking illustration of the present tendency of the body politic to stretch forth arms and hands to the university in time of need. Within a few days the entire, undivided, solid Republican electoral vote will be cast for Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, for vice-president of the United States. Now, if it really is a fact that the mind or impulse of the nation is turning, consciously or unconsciously, to the university for development of public service, it is a fact of great moment and of great promise."

Has Faith in the People.
President Taft declared that the American people would return from the dangerous tendencies in government which they have been encouraging and that the present day agitation of progressivism would not ultimately be harmful.

"The American people, great as they are," he said, "have much to learn, and if this comes to them, with some punishment attached, the lesson will be the longer remembered. I have spoken in no spirit of pessimism or hopelessness in attempting to point out what I regard as dangerous tendencies, but if the people are led astray from the path of wisdom, they will more permanently remain in it after they come back. I am not speaking of party or of my principles of sound Democratic government."

NEGRO TRIED BY MOB IS FOUND GUILTY AND BURNED

Negro is Questioned For Two Hours and Admits He is Guilty of Murder.

Houston, Miss., Feb. 8.—Divel Rucker, a negro, in whose possession was found a diamond ring said to have been the property of Mrs. J. C. Williams, murdered in her home here Thursday last, was lynched late today by a mob in the court house square.

Yesterday another negro, who it was believed had murdered Mrs. Williams, was lynched here. The victim of today's lynching was taken to the square and chained to an iron post. Faggots were piled about him. He was allowed to talk for a short time, then a brother of Mrs. Williams touched a match to the dry wood.

Rucker had scarcely begun to feel the effects of the heat when the father of Mrs. Williams elbowed his way through the throng and shot the negro four times. The negro, according to responsible citizens, admitted the crime and said that Andrew Williams, who was lynched on Friday, took the body of the woman from her house and threw it into the pit, where it was found.

Questioned by Men.
After being taken from the officers, Rucker was led down the street to a convenient open spot, the court stenographer summoned and an opportunity given the negro to tell his story.

He was questioned for two hours. He declared that Williams had been guiltless and told in detail of entering the dwelling of Mrs. Williams and asking her for money and on being refused, of choking and beating her to death. The stenographer duly made a record of the confession and at its conclusion the question of punishment was debated.

"Burn him," some one said, and Rucker was marched to the court house yard and lynched in the presence of 1,000 persons.

"WHITE SLAVE" GANG SELLS GIRLS FOR $25

TWO ARE CONVICTED OF FORCING GIRL TO RESORT AT PATERSON

District Attorney Describes Existence of New York Gang That Sells Young Girls to Owners and Keepers of Disorderly Resorts in Chicago.

NEW YORK, FEB. 8.—The existence of a "white slave" gang that sells girls for $25 or $30 each to owners or keepers of disorderly resorts in Chicago was described to Judge Hand, in federal court today, by Assistant United States District Attorney Walker, who moved for heavy sentences for Frank Flauto, a wine merchant, and Joseph Ribuffo, a barber, of Patterson, N. J., convicted of forcing a young woman to enter a resort in Patterson. Sentences were deferred pending decision on motions for a new trial.

According to federal counsel, money order receipts are in the government's possession showing that "white slavers" here have received $12,000 for girls sent to Chicago. Telegrams mentioning names of victims prices paid for them and agents who accompanied them west, are also declared to have been seized.

Urge Maximum Penalty.

Urging the maximum penalty for Flauto and Ribuffo, Mr. Walker told the court that an alleged member of the gang has been arrested in Chicago and held in 3,000 bail there. The telegrams passed between the Chicago man and Flauto, said Mr. Walker, who mentioned a west side druggist, a physician and Joseph Merino, now serving eight years as a "white slaver" and other members of the "ring."

The federal attorney told of a particular case where a 14 year old girl was kidnapped, sent to Chicago and recovered a year later when relatives signed a contract of $300 for her return. A copy of this contract is in the government's hands, he said. Indictments will be sought against members of the gang who appeared in federal court during the trials of Flauto and Ribuffo and made "death signs" to government witnesses.

Own Stenographer.

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 8.—President-elect Wilson to day completed the first draft of his inaugural address. He acted as his own stenographer in producing the document. He began sketching in short hand on Thursday and resumed the task to day, copying notes himself on a little type-writer in his studio. It is about 2,000 words long, he said, but he may add to or abbreviate it further.

"I have not looked up any of the inaugural addresses," he said, "so I don't know whether this one is longer or shorter."

He indicated that he was not quite satisfied with the address and might change it somewhat before giving it to the newspapers for advance distribution.

The governor's attention was called to the report alleging that Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan had charged Democratic senators with having been inspired by the president-elect to block confirmation of Mr. Taft's nominations.

BAILEY DAWSON NOW SAFE IN KING HOME FOR OLD MEN

Chicago Tribune Tells Into What Pleasant Lines Former Jacksonville Citizen Has Fallen—Dawson's Beard Made Famous By Eugene Field.

Bailey Dawson, a former resident of Jacksonville and known to the politicians of the state through many decades has just gone to the King home for old men in Chicago. The Chicago Tribune yesterday gave the following notice to Mr. Dawson:

"Bailey Dawson, after fifty years in the political activities of Illinois, spent his first day yesterday in the James C. King home for old men in Chicago. Edward E. Mitchell the retiring state treasurer, made the provision which will enable the veteran to end his days in peace and comfort.

"Mr. Dawson for many years wore a flowing beard, which Eugene Field has immortalized in poetry. Within the last twenty years, however, he has clipped his beard shorter, thus acquiring a resemblance to the late James G. Blaine.

"Here are a few of Field's verses on the beard. They were printed in 'Sharps and Flats' on April 7, 1891, then running in the old Morning News:

When Umplara led his host
Of warriors in the woolly west,
Our prairies' ornament and boast
Depended over Bailey's vest,
Smoking his pipe of virgin clay,
And with his tawdry paints besmear'd,
What recked the red man of the day
When Bailey Dawson trimmed his beard

Why, many a puling, wee papoose
Clutched wildly at those silken strands,
And Minnehaha—silly goose—
Once stroked it with her dimpled hands!
And often through the hoary mass
The prehistoric winds career'd.
How futile are those winds, alas!
Since Bailey Dawson trimmed his beard.

And in the Grand Pacific, where
He'd spent the greater part of life,
There felt such denseness of despair
You might have cut it with a knife.
One plaintive voice in terror spake
As that fresh barbered face appeared:
"Well, I'll be darned," said John
P. Drake,
"O! Bailey Dawson's trimmed his beard."

And thou, O, whiskers! soft and white,
What warmth exuded from thy strands!
How didst thou temper winter's spite
To Bailey's maxillary glands!
Why, that dependence from his chin
Was so admired, loved, revered
That properly 'twas deemed a sin
When Bailey Dawson trimmed his beard.

"Dawson treasures the verses and is fond of showing them to his friends. He always took pains to see that the 'reversed, weird, queer'd, sheared, endeared, and disappeared' bard was always kept trimmed."

Another version of the retirement of Mr. Bailey says:
"Because of the deadlock the Republican state officials held over until the organization of the assembly, and were, under the law, entitled to draw pay for the extra period.

"State Treasurer Mitchell felt that the pay should go to his Democratic successor and tendered it to the incoming official, but the latter declined to accept it.
"Mr. Dawson intimated to his friends that he desired to enter the Chicago home, and on the suggestion of retiring State Treasurer Mitchell, the money was given to Dawson, a sufficient sum to give him a home for the balance of his life."

"Miss Edith Mendoza as the 'Swamp Angel' and John Roberts as 'Freckles,' the guard of the lumber-lost, were easily the favorites. Miss Mendoza's interpretation of the character of the girlish heroine met with frequent applause. 'Freckles' singing was good but there wasn't enough excitement in the fighting to fully bring out the youthful scrapper of Porter's novel as interpreted by most of the Springfield readers of the well known book.
"George S. Mortimer as Duncan was a good Scotchman and Sara De Groz as his wife were witty and true to their parts. Carl Bates, as McLean, was good and his interpretation of the boss of the lumber camp was regarded as one of the best features of the play. The timber thieves were real villains and added much to the interest of the play."

WILL GIVE SKIN TO HOMELESS BOY.
In order to save the life of a homeless boy, the Rev. Charles Virden of Springfield, state agent for the state board of administration will give up several inches of his skin. The boy, Adolph Steiner, who is now in a Joliet hospital had his left leg cut off at the hip recently by the wheels of a train. It is only by grafting skin on the exposed flesh, the doctors say that his life can be saved.

ILLINOIS TURNS TRICK ON NORMAL

VISITING BASKETBALL TEAM
DEFEATED 31 TO 19.

Capt. Harmon's Varsity Squad Outclassed McLean County Quintet and Even Up Former Defeat—Line-Up of Teams.

Illinois Normal university's big basketball scoring machine failed to work last night, several cogs being stopped by the superior power of Illinois college's unique piece of mechanism. When the works were looked over the record was 31 to 19 in favor of Illinois. In justice to the visitors Courtwright, their star center, was not in the game, having missed his train. But even if this big cog had been working, nothing could have stopped the steam roller that Coach Harmon had prepared the past two days, with which to erase the stinging defeat which Normal had heaped upon the locals earlier in the season when Illinois lost by a score of 15 to 45. It was a case of one team outplaying and outclassing another.

That bunch from Normal is not lazy and there were no quitters on the job. They played for all they were worth last night. Normal's guards had more than they could do which is shown from the fact that they only got six field goals. Atchison and Furr did some splendid guarding and Westhoff and Briggs for the visitors were victims of the 'varsity forwards.

Kasbeer and Benjamin played the most consistent game for the visitors. The work of Maxwell for Illinois was of the spectacular order. He was a veritable whirlwind, getting seven field baskets and two free throws. Capt. Jaccard also got three field baskets off Westhoff.

Atchison was finished in the last of the second half by the referee when he had committed four personal fouls. Johnson succeeded him. Gary took Maxwell's place in the middle of the second half.

The following was the line up and records:

| Normal. | F.B. | F.T. | T.P. |

MISS WISE BECOMES A DUCHESS
Baltimore, Md., Feb. 8.—An international romance reached its culmination today in the ceremony at the Cathedral in this city which made Miss Eleanor Douglas Wise, daughter of Mrs. Frederick May Wise, the bride of the Duc de Richelieu, a French nobleman. Cardinal Gibbons officiated at the ceremony, which was followed by a wedding breakfast and reception at the Stratford hotel.

The bride is a member of the Wise family of Virginia. Her father was the late Commander Frederick May Wise, U. S. N., who took part in the civil war and in the Boxer uprising in China. He died in Yokohama in 1901.

The Duke of the head one of the famous families of France. The dukedom Richelieu was established by Cardinal Richelieu and at his death passed to his grand-nephew, Jean Armand de Vignerot, who was the father of the famous Marshal Duc de Richelieu. The mother of the present Duke was Miss Alice Heine, daughter of Michael Heine, a banker of New Orleans. After the death of the second Duc de Richelieu she became the wife of Prince Albert of Monaco, but was later parted from him by a judicial separation.

MANY LIGHTING PLANTS ARE CHANGING HANDS

Public Service Company is Stretching Out Arms and Annexing Towns Throughout Central Illinois.

Discussing the recent changes of ownership of electric light systems in this part of the state, the Pittsfield Democrat says it has what seems to be the best of authority for stating that electric current be furnished from the big power station now being erected at Kincaid, near Taylorville, adding: "This seems reasonable for if the Central Illinois Service Co. expected to obtain power from Keokuk, why would they be building the immense steam power plant at the above place. It might also be stated here that material for the transmission line is being delivered at Mt. Sterling and Bluffs, and the line from the latter place here will soon be under way. At Meredosia last week the company was granted a fifty-year franchise and other cities and towns in which it has secured lighting plants will be asked to do likewise. In Pittsfield the present franchise has twenty years to run, but last week petitions were circulated asking the consent of the property owners for the company to occupy streets and alleys with its poles, etc. Consent of a certain percent of property owners is necessary before the company can go before the city council and ask for a franchise, and this is why the petitions were being circulated a few days ago. The company, it is said, has promised in all way current and a big reduction in prices at an early day, or as soon as the transmission lines are completed, and this is what everybody interested is anxiously looking for. Then, too, the city lighting system is to be entirely rebuilt in this place at an early day and thus it will be seen that there is something doing by the new company all along the line, and Mr. Crawford superintendent for this division, with headquarters at Pittsfield, is a very busy man."

"The cities and towns in this division are: Pittsfield, Griggsville, Bluffs, Meredosia, Versailles, Mt. Sterling, Camp Point, Hull, Kinderhook and Barry, the last named having been taken on Saturday."

The Democrat states that the Central Public Service Co. paid $60,000 for the Pittsfield and Griggsville electric light plants, current for both of which is generated at the Pittsfield power house. The same company also paid $100,000 for the light plant at White Hall, from which electricity is supplied Winchester, Greenfield and Barry. This purchase completes the chain of electric light systems along the proposed line of the A. J. & P. Interurban, excepting the two terminal cities of Alton and Jacksonville.

The Point to Consider

When buying coal is not so much what you pay, as what you get for your money. A poor grade of coal is dear at any price. In the coal we sell there is no waste. Every bit of it burns up and leaves very little ash, and it is absolutely free from clinkers. If you want to get your money's worth buy coal from U. J. HALE & CO.

J. H. S. ANNEXES BASKETBALL GAME 52 TO 11.

Brown County Lads Fail to Prove Worthy Foe to Coach Buland's Quintet—Jacksonville Plays at Canton Next.

In a loosely played basketball game Saturday night the Mt. Sterling High school team was defeated by J. H. S. by a score of 52 to 11. In the first half it appeared as though the visitors might come back hard as the score was 23 to 10 in favor of J. H. S., with Mt. Sterling at times showing some good work. But the slaughter Jacksonville gave in the second half came almost equalling that administered to Canton about a week ago. The visitors scored only one foul goal in the second against Jacksonville's 29 points. The visitors claim that they were not accustomed to playing on as smooth a floor as the one here, but J. H. S. men slipped around about as much as the visitors and to the spectators it was a case of being outclassed.

Jacksonville did not play the usual game, perhaps, on account of the contest the night before against Springfield. The contest was too one-sided to be of interest to the spectators, although occasionally there was a bright spot which brought applause from the fans.

Next Friday J. H. S. will go to Canton for a return game. It is expected that by that time the regular Canton team will be together and determined to cut down the big score which the locals piled up against them here.

Meyer was the star performer of the visitors last night, while Hale, W. Boxell and Frye did most of the basket throwing for the locals.

The following was the line-up:
Mt. Sterling—Simpson, center; Butler, right forward; Meyer, left forward; Groves, right guard; Ivins, left guard.

Jacksonville—Hale, center; W. Boxell, right forward; Frye, left forward; Maddox, right guard; D. Boxell, left guard.

Summary—Field baskets, Meyer, 3; Simpson, 1; Hale, 8; W. Boxell, 8; Frye, 8; Maddox, 1. Foul baskets, Meyer, 2; Butler, 1; W. Boxell, 1; Frye, 1. Referee, Brewer (Y. M. C. A.).

FAMOUS BRITISH SOLDIER IS 75.

London, Feb. 8.—Field Marshal Sir Evelyn Wood, famous as one of the "fighting machines" of the British Empire, is receiving congratulations in anticipation of his seventy-fifth birthday anniversary tomorrow. Few men living to day have had such a wide experience in military affairs as Sir Evelyn. He has served on both the navy and army, with the cavalry and the infantry. He has filled all the regimental grades and served nearly in every kind of a staff appointment. He began life as a midshipman in the navy and fought at Inkerman and in the attack on the Rodan. During the mutiny in India he was on the firing line all the time. Afterward he saw service in Africa, then returned to England and fitted himself for a position on the general staff of the army. Despite his seventy-five years the veteran soldier is still alert and active. Only a few days ago he had a narrow escape in the hunting field. His horse jumped short at a fence and was impaled on a stake, but Sir Evelyn kept his seat. Seeing that the horse's condition was hopeless his rider bought a gun and shot the animal.

MANY ENGLISH BOXERS COMING

INVASION OF THE U. S. A. BY BRITISHERS SEEMS TO HAVE STARTED.

Prospects Are Bright For a Series of International Contests Soon—Wells, Driscoll and Welsh Sail With Chips on Their Shoulders.

By James J. Corbett
 (Former Heavyweight Champion of the World.)

Written for Jacksonville Journal.
 English boxers are casting covetous eyes in this direction and the prospects are bright for a series of international contests in the near future. In fact, the invasion of the U. S. A. has already started, with Bombardier Wells in the van. Jem Driscoll is booked to follow within the next week or ten days and Freddy Welsh, the "two-time" champion lightweight of Great Britain, will honor this country with his presence before the Ides of March are upon us.

Bombardier Wells is here to do business with any of the leading white heavies, Luther McCarty preferred, Driscoll comes to arrange a match for the international featherweight championship with Johnny Kilbane, the American title holder, while Welsh is after the scalp of Willie Ritchie, our premier lightweight.

When Welsh was last here the demand for his services was not very brisk. It was thought the fast little Briton had shot his bolt as a boxer of the highest class. He spent several weeks in Gotham in a futile attempt to get a match, and finally sailed away in disgust at the turn things had taken. It is very much different now; Freddie lingered long enough at one to win back the light-weight title, and his services are now eagerly sought by American promoters.

Welsh writes that his main object in making the trip is to get the match with Ritchie. He advances claims to the best right to first battle our new champion, and it must be admitted that his case is a good one. Freddie has a decision over Willie and it is up to the latter to wipe that stain from his scutcheon. Welsh also calls attention to his achievements of the last few months, during which time he defeated Matt Wells and Hughie McEgan, champions of England and Australia respectively, and points out that precedent and ring etiquette demand that Ritchie should be the challenger.

I believe Ritchie would welcome a return match with Welsh. It was only by the narrowest of margins that Freddy scored on the other occasion and Willie was hardly more than a beginner at the time. Now that he has won his spurs and gained the experience and confidence that goes with a title, he is an entirely different proposition, as the clever Welsh may learn to his sorrow.

As a rule I take little interest in bouts between bantam-weights, but I wouldn't mind being in Los Angeles next week to see Kid Williams and Eddie Campi mix it up. All the western men I have met lately have been singing the praises of young Campi and telling me what a great little fighter he is, etc.

I have never seen Campi, but I have seen Williams go on several occasions and if the Pacific coast youngster can beat the Baltimore pamtan, I will admit that he is a good 'un, and in line for the championship. Williams is a great little fighter. He is very aggressive and has the stamina of a husky lightweight. He outpointed Johnny Coulon in a ten round go at Madison Square Garden last fall and experts who saw the bout say he was "under wraps" at that.

I understand Coulon has accepted Tom McVare's offer to meet the winner of the Campi-Williams bout. If Johnny can't do any better than his most recent New York exhibitions would indicate, I will not be surprised to see the title change hands. Against Williams and Charley Goldman the champion was slow and showed little of the form that made him the daddy of the 116 pounders.

Al Palzer, accompanied by Manager Tom O'Rourke, sailed for England last Saturday. On the same day Bombardier Wells left England for this country. According to O'Rourke Palzer is matched to box Wells before a London club in the near future. If the cables don't lie Wells is coming to this country to box Luther McCarty ten rounds at Madison Square Garden. And on top of all this McCarty announces that he will positively not box before July and that Tom McCarey, the Los Angeles promoter, has first call on his services. Judging from these conflicting and contradictory statements somebody is telling fibs.

In any event Bombardier Wells will be welcomed by the sports of this country. He is the classiest bag man England has sent here since the days of Charlie Mitchell. In point of skill as compared with McCarey, Willard and Palzer, the three leading "hopes" of this country, the Bombardier is in a class by himself, but apparently lacks the stamina to become a champion.

If McCarty proves obdurate and refuses to box the Bombardier it is likely the garden management will substitute big Jess Willard. But Willard to get the match will first have to meet and defeat "One Round" Davis, the Buffalo heavyweight, with whom he was matched several months ago. The boxing commissions have decreed that Jess must keep that engagement before they will allow him to appear elsewhere in the state. A Wells-Willard match would prove quite as interesting to New Yorkers as the big Kansas showed when he boxed McCarty that he was at least the equal of the so-called "white heavy-weight champion."

I am in receipt of a communication from Dick Jemison, sporting editor of the Atlanta Constitution, in which he asserts that the story published in the New York Journal to the effect that "Knock Out" Brown was robbed of the decision by the referee in the recent match with Jake Abel, the Chattanooga lightweight, is entirely opposite to the facts in the case. According to Mr. Jemison, who is an authority on boxing and one of the ablest fight critics in the south, the referee was perfectly right in giving the decision to Abel, and that even the most enthusiastic Brown rooters present at the contest admitted the defeat of their favorite.

The story in question carried the signature of W. S. Farnsworth, an Atlanta sporting writer, but that gentleman claims his name was used without his knowledge or consent. Mr. Jamison proposes to investigate the matter and if successful in tracing the authorship of the article promises the culprit the treatment such a willful distortion of the facts calls for.

Tom McCarey's crowning of Luther McCarty as champion white heavyweight has by no means ended the hunt for promising championship material. John McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, killed many a good "red hope" story when he signed the big Indian athlete, Jim Thorpe.

In proposing to revoke the licenses of all referees in this state and reappoint only men of known qualifications in the future the boxing commission has taken a step in the right direction. The proposed plan calls for the assignment of referees by the commission along the lines adopted by the base ball authorities in detailing umpires to the various games. The present system which permits promoters to select their own referees is far from satisfactory, and the new scheme will go a long way towards preventing possible "understandings" between club owners and arbiters. If the commissioners will go a bit further and instruct the referees to compel strict observance of the rules of boxing, they will earn the thanks of all lovers of clean sport.

Also a revocation of the rule prohibiting decisions would strike the popular chord.

The middle-weight title question is still a matter of conjecture. Instead of clearing up the situation is becoming more complex and added starters are climbing into the picture right along. Over in Buffalo the other evening Willie "Knock Out" Brennan, who heretofore has not been classed with the title chasers, succeeded in outpointing Philadelphia Jack O'Brien's $50,000 beauty, Jack McCarron. Only recently Philadelphia Jack accused Eddie McGoorty of side-stepping his boy and intimated that fear of a beating was the cause of McGoorty's disinclination to do business. Apparently Eddie missed a good thing through ignoring McCarron's overtures for battle.

A GREAT REVIVAL CAMPAIGN.
 During the next week the revival campaign on at the Grace Church will reach to the uttermost sections of the city in its influence. A program of services has been arranged by the pastor that will give some idea of the interest of the meetings, beginning Sunday night. Thousands of the programs are being distributed over the city. These messages will strike deep at the roots of evils that stalk along our streets and lurk in haunts in the city. The time has come for Jacksonville to wake up as to moral conditions and tendencies. Moral lethargy furnishes the favorable condition for the infection of vice and crime just as low physical vitality avails the attack of infectious diseases. Read the program as found in other columns of this issue. Hear these red hot messages. Be prepared to take what is coming to you read the program over carefully. You will want to hear the program for each evening. The singing will be a strong feature. Some of the best soloists will take part along with the chorus. The series begins with Sunday night. All are welcome. Invite your friends.

WOMAN'S COLLEGE NOTES

The Pasmore Trio appeared Monday night before a large audience in Music hall. They delighted those present with their work, and were recalled after the last number of the program. This was one of the most enjoyable numbers on the Artists' course so far.

Dr. Edward A. Steiner will next appear on March 15. A number of his books can be had at the public library, and it would be well for those interested to look up some of the things this remarkable man has been doing.

Miss Gillett has been giving a number of lectures along the line of her work. Thursday at 3:30 she spoke at the public library before an interested audience on "How to Keep Well, and How to Stay Well." It was of principal interest to mothers and home-makers.

The children's classes in cooking and sewing, which meet on Wednesday at 3:45, have been organized, and are doing good work. There is room for a few additional students, in case any should wish to take advantage of this opportunity.

The day of prayer for colleges was fittingly observed Thursday, Feb. 6. The half hour immediately preceding the regular service was devoted to class prayer meetings. At 10:30 all assembled in the college chapel, and there listened to a very strong address by Bishop Charles W. Smith, of St. Louis. This was Bishop Smith's first appearance in Jacksonville, and his talk was thoroughly enjoyed. In the afternoon at 2 o'clock a general prayer meeting service was held in the old chapel. At this service the reports from the various class prayer meetings were heard.

Friday afternoon at 4:15 the first year students in expression gave a very enjoyable recital. The strong work which the department has been doing was very evident from the high grade of the recital.

Next Monday evening, Feb. 10, at 8 o'clock, Miss Kidder will give her recital. She will read "The Passing of the Third Floor Back." Those planning to attend this recital should make arrangements to be on hand in time to get good seats. There is no admission charge, and all friends of the school will be welcome.

Lincoln's birthday will be appropriately observed with a program by the expression department. On the 14th President and Mrs. Harker will entertain the seniors at dinner.

The library has received seven volumes on the "Missionary Work in Africa." These have been presented by President Harker. "The Southern Mountaineers," a very interesting book on the work among the poor whites of the south, has been presented to the library by its author, Samuel T. Wilson. "Epoch Makers in Modern Missions," by A. MacLain, who is president of the foreign board of missions of the Christian church, has also been presented to the library.

BROOKLYN PATRIOTISM.
 At the Sunday night service at Brooklyn, Rev. H. S. Alkire will deliver a special sermon touching upon the lives of four great Americans whose birth anniversaries are now due. Patriotic music will be used, and the whole programme is to be strictly American in character. Services begin promptly at 7:30 and the public is always welcome.

VAN DYKE READING AT BROOKLYN.
 This morning Miss Lutkenyer will tell a sacred story to the children and older people of Brooklyn Sunday school. The story selected is from Van Dyke.

The usual exercises will be shortened and the story will begin at 10:10.

NOTICE

To Farmers and Stock Raisers

We are now manufacturing under State License, the best Brand of hog food on market known as "SURE FATTEN HOG FOOD". It is far superior to any Brand of Hog food on the market to day. It is guaranteed under the Pure Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906, Serial No. 47,673. Guaranteed analysis as follows:

Crude Fat 10.00 to 14 per cent
 Crude Protein 52.50 to 60 per cent
 Crude Fibre 1.00 to 3 per cent
 Phosphate 10.00 to 12 per cent

What Is "Sure Fatten Hog Food"

It is a dark colored granular meal, made from meat residues, and it supplies the protein and phosphates necessary for compounding a balanced ration in most economical and palatable form.

It contains phosphates in proper proportion to insure strength of bone and frame work. In the corn belt bone development is a matter of serious consideration.

It is not a substitute for corn, but a small quantity fed in connection with corn or other grains gives a balanced ration.

It is the most economical source of digestible protein known, containing twice as much protein as oil meal and five times as much as middlings, shorts, shipstuf, or alfalfa meal.

TANKAGE is recommended by all leading experiment stations.

It is packed in one-hundred-pound burlap sack, plainly marked "SURE FATTEN HOG FOOD," analysis as above.

It is the ideal feed to balance rations.

What "Sure Fatten Hog Food" Tankage Does.

It develops bone and muscle in young pigs and makes them grow. It matures a hog for market in two and three months quicker than corn alone, thereby, saving one third of the feed bill, one third of the labor, one third of the risk, increasing profits one third.

It grows better proportioned hogs, more meat, a d more fat, hence market-topper hogs. SURE FATTEN HOG FOOD TANKAGE fed hogs ship well with small shrink.

While in nowise a medicine, it so fortifies and strengthens the system against attacks of disease germs that SURE FATTEN HOG FOOD TANKAGE fed hogs are universally healthy hogs.

FIFTY YEARS AFTER THE GREAT WAR OF THE REBELLION

Capt. Fanning Writes Recollections of the Conflict Which Was Waged in the Early Sixties—Some Records of the 101st Illinois Infantry.

These memoirs composed from personal experience and memory together with official records and history of the civil war are not intended to bestow fulsome praise or write glowing eulogies but to call to memory what we all then living witnessed in those days and to give those of minor age or born since that time, a comprehensive understanding of the unselfish and patriotic impulse that animated every soul.

Under the call for Illinois volunteer infantry in July, 1862, I enlisted at Murrayville, Ill., and established headquarters at that place to recruit and enroll men to organize a company and to bring in recruits from the country. On the 6th day of August, 1862, I was notified by Governor Richard Yates, Springfield, Ill., to organize the company for a new regiment Illinois volunteer infantry and to have the company ready for marching orders, to be accepted until the 18th day of August, 1862. On the 12th day of August, 1862, the number of enlisted men required to make a company were present at headquarters and took the formal oath prescribed by law for enlisted Illinois volunteer infantrymen. On the same day an election was held to choose commissioned officers of the company and to aid in carrying out the intended purpose of the organization of the company. The citizens of the village, the farmers and mechanics of the country all united in offering the Presbyterian church for us in the organization and election of commissioned officers to be held at that time and place. Then and there every enlisted man of the company entitled to vote cast a ballot and none others, and on the count of the ballots I was declared elected by unanimous vote captain of the company; James L. Wyatt, first lieutenant; John W. Shetani, second lieutenant; and at the same meeting the lady friends mothers, wives and daughters, zealous in behalf of the cause, presented the company with a beautiful flag of the United States of America. On the same occasion I was presented as captain of the company by an old friend and neighbor, Mr. Henry Whalen, a sabre that had been worn on many occasions and won honors of distinguished merit. On the same day, the 12th of August, I reported the company organized and ready to march to Governor Yates, Springfield, Ill., and on the following day received orders to rendezvous the company at Camp Douglas, Jacksonville, Ill., and to be ready to help organize a new regiment at that place. On the 16th day of August, the company went into quarters at Camp Duncan, Jacksonville, Ill. On the 17th day of August, 1862, the company was assigned to position and rank, Co. F 101st Regiment Illinois Volunteer Infantry.

The state was unable to furnish enough camp and garrison equipage to supply all the regiments. The resources of the government could not supply tents with promptness. In most of the counties of the state there were fair grounds at the county seats and the sheds of the fair grounds were occupied until other quarters could be secured for them. Such therefore as were not supplied with camp and garrison equipage, and no rations, were directed to obtain board at eating houses the best they could and await orders. The men of the regiment were marched three times every day from camp to the city and back for meals for several days. And beginning August 14, 1862, to September 2, 1862, the regiment did not and guard duty and drill. On the 2nd day of September, 1862, the regiment was inspected, officers and men, as to their physical ability to serve in the military service of the United States. Those disabled were rejected and those not rejected were accepted and mustered into the service of the U. S. A. in the 101st Illinois Volunteer Infantry by Capt. Charles Ewing, 13th Infantry, mustering officers; George S. Smith, surgeon of regiment, and J. T. Cassell, acting surgeon. After being mustered into military service we continued to drill and equip for field service, until the 6th day of October, when marching order were received. On the 7th we reached Cairo, Ill., at sun set. Here for over a month we did post and guard duty and special duty at the corral of paroled confederate prisoners and in the interim drill. In consequence of inclement weather and an epidemic of measles in camp there was a great deal of sickness and a good many men were discharged or died from disease. On Nov. 28, we left Cairo and proceeded down the river to Columbus, Ky., and thence by railroad to Davis Mills, Miss. Here the regiment was assigned to Louis brigade Ross division, Army of the Tennessee. On the 28th the regiment started on the march and passed through Holly Springs, Miss., reaching Lumpkins Mills, south of Holly Springs, on the 30th. Here the regiment remained three days, when it received orders to return to Holly Springs for provost and guard duty. At Holly Springs another regiment was doing picket duty and four companies of the 101st were divided about town in squads to do provost duty; five companies were separated and stationed along the railroad at different places to guard bridges. One company had been sent to Cairo with confederate prisoners. On the march from Davis Mills to Lumpkins Mills the road was bad and muddy. Many of the men were sick or disabled and gave out, unable to march and carry guns and knapsacks.

Our company officers carried them and permitted the disabled men to fall out of the lines and go at will. At Lumpkins Mills there was a heavy rain and bad roads made things worse. On the 3rd day of December, late in the evening, at Holly Springs, orders were received to go to the railroad bridge, six miles north of Holly Springs. At that time it was snowing and continued to snow on this march. Our tents were left behind and we were exposed to a heavy wet snow without shelter and with little fire. Two days later we received orders to move and take up quarters at the first bridge on the railroad north of Holly Springs. At this bridge we received tents for shelter and rations, with instructions to guard the bridge against all attempts to wreck, burn or destroy the same, or the track over it. Thus for about two weeks we continuously kept guards on duty day and night and faithfully performed the work assigned to be done.

December 23, 1862, about 4 o'clock in the morning, before daylight, on duty in command of Co. F, 101st Illinois Volunteer Infantry, at the first railroad bridge north of Holly Springs, Miss., I made careful examination of the condition of the bridge, the guard on duty, the camp and quarters of the men. At that time nearly all of the men were in their tents asleep, unaware that a raid by Van Dorn's confederate cavalry was then coming in the direction of Holly Springs. We had no such information from the post command or from any other source. While on duty of inspection that morning, in the still of night, I could hear unusual sounds like the barking of many dogs; domestic animals and fowls were making more noise than usual in the south we could hear a noise not distinct enough to be clear to the mind or senses, that sound not heard on other mornings. Thus apprehensive there was a direct cause for such unusual disturbances and fear of what might be coming, I left my camp and made reconnoitre with a view to find out the operation which caused this sound that might result in the capture of the post at Holly Springs. While enroute my intention was that while at the railroad depot to get transportation for two men that had been discharged for disability. When near the depot, on my right, we could hear the clatter of horses' feet going at a fast gallop and soon we heard the confederate yell, the report of muskets and saw tents on fire at the camp of the 62nd Illinois Volunteer Infantry. On the 13th this regiment had moved to Jackson, Tenn., leaving 170 men, mostly sick, at Holly Springs. At the time the camp of the 62nd Illinois Volunteer Infantry was attacked we could hear the report of guns at the fair grounds, where the 2nd Illinois Cavalry was camped. Major John J. Mudd in a summary of the part performed by the 2nd Illinois Cavalry in the unfortunate affair of the 20th reported six companies encamped at the fair grounds under Lieutenant Colonel McNeil that were under orders to proceed that day to Oxford by rail and was not apprised of any attack being apprehended until about the time the infantry camp near the depot was captured; that Colonel McNeil was pressed by overwhelming numbers and compelled to fall back and unfortunately surrounded and taken prisoner, and not having time to form the men regularly the defense was a series of conflicts, with the loss of nine killed, 39 wounded, about 100 prisoners. The loss was heavy, but the odds were great, and any but the most resolute men would have surrendered without attempting to fight or escape.

Thus we saw that the post at Holly Springs was being surprised and captured, unaware of the overwhelming number of the enemy and apprehended that our forces were not adequate to resist the attack of such great odds in the number of men; that the attack was simultaneously planned by the enemy to capture each squad of men scattered about the town separately and to destroy the great amount of government army supplies then stored in houses at the post, and was the principal source of supplies for Gen. Grant's army then on the march near Oxford. We were apprehensive that the order removing the 62nd Illinois to Jackson, and the intended moving of the 2nd Illinois Cavalry to Oxford made the plan of capture more easy and that to resist such overwhelming numbers of the enemy, more men were needed, including some artillery and rifle pits, stockades and breastworks. Wherever the blame of this disaster shall rest, it surely should not attach itself to the 101st Illinois Volunteer Infantry. Col. Charles H. Fox was not on duty, sick in bed at a private house, badly salivated with medicine taken and totally disabled. Lieut. Col. William J. Wyatt was on duty, mounted and in the saddle ready for fight, but on account of orders made by superior at the post he was divested of any definite command by division of the regiment then on detached service.

Major Jesse T. Newman, who was acting provost marshal on duty in command of that service, was captured, and companies B, C, E, and I were doing provost and garrison duty, taken prisoners and paroled. Companies D, G, H and K, which were stationed along the railroad, moved to Coldwater and fell in with the 90th Illinois Infantry. Col. Timothy G. Meara in command, and the 2nd Illinois Cavalry that moved from Holly Springs, together the united force prevented Van Dorn's attack on that place.

Company A, Capt. John B. Lesage, was sent to Cairo with rebel prisoners on the 13th, and was not present at the Holly Springs disaster. Company F was detached and doing special duty at the time of the unfortunate disaster at Holly Springs here in before described by a vivid description of the service and duties performed and the reason for apprehension of coming disaster, while near the camp of the 62nd Illinois Infantry we saw the attack and witnessed the overwhelming numbers of mounted men in the fight, and that they were moving in the direction of my camp, and fearing that I might be intercepted on my return to camp, to avoid capture, detoured from the direct road to camp and in haste ran with greatest speed possible and that above the speed of the average athlete, and when in halting distance gave the alarm to call men to arms; that in response to the order to arms, one officer, Lieut. John W. Shelton, and 23 men were present in the open and before the squad could be formed in line to make resistance the enemy formed in line for action, within a distance of 70 yards of the position we occupied in the open, being pressed by overwhelming numbers of the enemy, at least 15 to 1 in favor of them and the command distinctly heard to make ready to fire, and that followed by the same officer was a demand we surrender, and with anxiety and fear we were apprehensive that it was not possible to succeed by resistance, and that we could not escape on account of the long distance to be made that no compromise could be made and that whatever was done had to be done quickly, and my decision was that it was best to make live prisoners of war rather than be shot to death and made dead heroes of fame. Following the surrender our guns were broken and tents, records, camp equipage, clothing and rations destroyed, and all of the men captured there were made to move on a double quick run to the open space used by them to corral prisoners taken by them. When we got to the corral I was badly fatigued, tired out and perspiring freely. I sat down and lay on the cold, damp ground, the weather inclement, high wind, and as a result of overtask and exposure while on duty I incurred a severe cold, chills, pain in the side and chest and bronchial cough that resulted in diabetes. The 62nd Illinois, the 2nd Illinois Cavalry and five companies of the 101st Illinois that were made prisoners before noon, but the sick were paroled at the hospital or in their camp. Many stragglers, some on business of the government, others with farlongs, going from and returning to the place where they belonged, were made prisoners and paroled. The attendants, nurses and convalescents at hospital and in camp, together with the stragglers not on duty were greater in number than the entire force of able bodied men that was captured. The men who were captured and corraled were given their choice to take a parole or continue as prisoners of war in the hand of the enemy, and the concurrent decision was that it was best to take parole and return to camp of the federal government, where in turn they would be exchanged for equal number of confederate prisoners. The parole was taken rather than be put under escort of the enemy mounted on horseback and who must move swiftly and detour through the country to some place where they be incarcerated prisoners until exchanged for a like number of confederate prisoners. Not only this, they were apprehensive of the danger of being overtaken by forced marching with scant rations, no blankets or shelter, only light clothing, in the enemy's country, with little hope of sympathy in case of sickness and the possibility of being held a prisoner some time before being exchanged. In the meantime while the different squads of men were being captured and paroled they were also busy appropriating to their own use Uncle Sam's clothing, blankets, rations and other supplies in need by them, and that not taken for use by them burned in these buildings and a great amount of the federal government supplies, including magazines, where ammunition was stored, was destroyed by fire. Late in the afternoon, and after devastation, waste and plunder of property the men were set at liberty on parole.

As soon as the pickets on guard at the corral were removed we, together with men moved to Holly Springs, arrived there near night and made quarters in an empty store building. From there we could see great crowds of men on the sidewalks going in every direction; in the streets the rebel cavalry, mounted, with a carbine and sabre at side, pistols in the holster, moving in a fast gallop in every direction, and was apprehensive that it was an unorganized mass of men beyond control and that there was no police officers to enforce the civil law and none to enforce military provost duty and establish order. To show the need of moral discipline we refer to one circumstance that occurred at time. While lying on the floor in the building we had taken for quarters there came a man, a stranger, and halted at the door and inquired if there was any officer in the building. Some one at the door pointed toward me and told him there was an officer and directed him to me. He was excited but told his story. He was the owner of a large stock of merchandise that men broke open the door, entered the house and were appropriating to their own use his goods, and that he wanted an officer to get them out and shut the door. The man reply I said to him that there was no officer duly clothed with power or authority to act in his case and that any attempt to move the men out of the house might be a failure. He then made an offer to pay $100 to clear out the men looting his store and clear the door. I repeated to him as before and said to him that no man will go with you without assistance. I am tired out and sick and none of the men here are armed. He still persisted in my getting help to aid me in case of need. Then there was standing by John Barton, John Boruff and James K. Fanning. We four held a conference and agreed to make the best effort possible to secure to him his merchandise and immediately moved one block to the store building. On coming near the door we saw men coming out of the building loaded with goods. At the door there appeared to be about 40 men taking goods from shelves, piling them on the counters and dropping goods on the floor. As we entered the door we moved quickly past the men, then, feeling the attitude of a soldier to exhibit some feeling, then said that the alarm of danger is near at hand and we were fearful of what might be coming. You men are doing wrong and not doing right. You are appropriating to you use goods from this house that do not belong to you. The merchandise is the property of the man who owns it and you have no right to take it without his consent or due process of law. You are violating the civil and military law and the divine law proceeding from God, and making yourselves criminals in the eyes of the law. Not only that, you are taking from the man that owns the goods what you do not need, of little value to you, and leaving the owner's wife and children destitute, without ample means to provide for want of fuel, food, clothing, shelter and other articles necessary to sustain life. Such a calamity must not come. You shall cease taking goods and leave the house. They apprehending that we intended to arrest them, left the house and we locked the door. After the door was closed, in conference with the owner of the property he disclosed the fact that he had two beds upstairs not occupied and that we were welcome to the use of them during the night and having no place to lay our heads accepted the offer. The next morning the rebel soldiers had made their exit from the town and as soon as we were dressed he made us the offer of a box of cigars as pay for our service for him. We protested against the payment offered and reminded him of the promise made by him the night before. He replied, apparently distressed, that his loss was so great that he was not able to fulfill the promise made, but that he would pay us $50. We accepted the offer and took the money, bid him good-bye, moved to quarters we had left, then divided the money with the four men that were on the job.

Thus to recur and come back to a comprehensive understanding of the cause of the unfortunate disaster at Holly Springs, referred to herein, before it is conclusive that all officers and men under the command and subjected to the orders of Col. R. C. Murphy, in command of the post, did not that could be done at time. In his official report he said concerning the cavalry, that they behaved badly and after receiving two volleys from the enemy, cleared out. John J. Mudd, major commanding the cavalry, in his report says that the odds were great and any but the most resolute men would have surrendered without attempting to fight or escape.

Holly Springs, Miss., Jan. 8, 1863.

General Order No. 4:
Col. R. C. Murphy was dismissed from the services, to take effect from the 29th of December, 1862, the day of his cowardly and disgraceful conduct. By order of Major General U. S. Grant.

John A. Rawlins, assistant adjutant general.

On the following day, by order of General Grant, the post at Holly Springs was reinforced with infantry, cavalry and artillery. Van Dorn having captured Holly Springs and General Sherman being unable to effect the disengagement of the rebels from Vicksburg, General Grant's army was obliged to retreat so that he could supply his army with subsistence, etc. Afterward the four companies, D, G, H and K, which were stationed along the railroad and fell back to Coldwater, were formed into a battalion and temporarily assigned to the 14th Illinois Volunteer Infantry and did a great deal of scouting service over Tennessee, finally arrived at Memphis in February, 1863.

Here they were joined by Co. A, Captain Lesage, who took command of the battalion; early in March the battalion was ordered down to Vicksburg, where it was broken up and the companies assigned to various independent duties. Co. K was assigned to provost duty at General Grant's headquarters; Co. A was assigned to the General Bragg; Co. G to the ram Switzerland; Co. D to the Rattler; and Crockett, and Co. H to the Lafayette. From this until the final reunion of the regiment each company had its separate history of scouts, skirmishes and expeditions. Co. G had the honor of running the blockade at Vicksburg, for which service after its fall General Grant furloughed the entire command.

On December 28th, 1863, the men paroled at Holly Springs were ordered to move to Memphis, thence to Benton Barracks, Mo. Enroute to Memphis they had cavalry escort. The road was bad and muddy, on the march, and caused delay and short rations. We arrived the last day in December. Here the ground was covered with snow; cold inclement weather and high wind. On January 14, 1863, the men paroled were ordered on board the Bell Creole. The boat was in bad condition, dirty filthy and overloaded in the cabin and on deck. The first day out on the trip it ran aground and caused delay until another boat named Curlew, an up river craft, narrow stern wheel and top heavy. When the men crowded together on one side it would go down and the opposite side go up, like it would turn turtle, which caused fright. For fear of danger it moved slowly and made a landing at Cairo on the Illinois side. Here many men left the Curlew and bought transportation by rail home; others left the boat and took Walker's line over the dirt road, leaving the remainder on the Curlew, out of commission, waiting for the Bell Creole to take them on board and finish the trip to St. Louis, which ended about 10 o'clock on the morning of January 9, 1863. At St. Louis there was a deep snow and street cars not running in the morning. As soon as the car track was cleared all the paroled men landed at St. Louis and went to Benton Barracks, Mo., where they were assigned to quarters in the barracks. They remained there until in June, 1863.

On the 7th of June the other part of the regiment was exchanged and sent down to New Madrid, Mo. July 11 they were sent to Columbus, Ky., where they were started out on a series of scouts and expeditions, which only terminated about the 25th of August by their bringing up at Union City, Tenn. Here they remained about a month, during which time Companies A, D, G, H and K rejoined them and completed the reunion of the regiment, which remained a unit thenceforth.

September 24, 1863, the regiment received orders transferring it to the department of the Cumberland, and started at once for Louisville, Ky., via Cairo and Sandoval, Ill., and Mitchell and New Albany, Ind., arriving in Louisville September 27. September 30 it left Louisville via Nashville, and arrived at Bridgeport, Ala., October 2, 1863, and remained there until the 27th. This period of service was always referred to as a hard time, owing to the severe rains and destitution of tents. In fact most of the regiment was tentless until the 1st of January, following.

October 27 the regiment was temporarily assigned to the first brigade, third division, eleventh army corps, and started on the march to the front, arriving next day at Lookout Valley, where on the night of its arrival it participated in the night battle of Wauhatchie, where, by singular good fortune, not a man was hurt. For nearly a month, following, the regiment lay encamped in the valley, exposed to the daily shelling from Lookout Mountain, which, during that time, killed one man and wounded another.

November 22 the regiment received marching orders, and proceeded to Chattanooga, where it participated in the battle of Chattanooga, losing one man killed. Immediately after the battle it was ordered to the relief of Knoxville and participated in that severe march; and finally, returned to Lookout Valley, December 17. Many of the men were barefooted, and in that condition, had marched many a weary mile, over the frozen ground and sharp rocks, even as their forefathers had done in revolutionary times, leaving their blood to mark their steps.

Recruiting its strength in the valley for a few days, the regiment was then set to work building corduroy roads; after which, on the 1st of January, 1864, they were sent to Kelley's Ferry to relieve the Sixteenth Illinois, then about to return home on veteran furlough. Here the regiment remained until the last of January, when, upon the completion of the railroad to Chattanooga, they were ordered to Bridgeport, where they went into camp, and quietly remained there until the 2nd of May, when they started for May, when they started for the front. The Eleventh and Twelfth Corps had been consolidated into the Twentieth Army Corps, and the old Brigade to which the One Hundred and First had been attached in the Eleventh Corps, had been transferred to the First Division in the new Corps, and became the Third Brigade of that division. This brigade was commanded by Colonel (afterwards Brigadier General) Robinson of the Eighty-second Ohio. Leaving Bridgeport on May 2, on the 4th reached Taylor's Ridge, which was crossed next day, and encamped at Anderson Postoffice. Remained there until midnight of May 10, when it marched for Snake Creek Gap, the troops were ready for action, near Resaca, but were held in reserve all day. On the 14th were again held in reserve until 3 p. m., when they started on the double quick for the left, which was reached just in time for the Brigade to render important service in the action then progressing.

During this engagement, it is said the One Hundred and First was ordered to take a hill in front of them which they did in so gallant a style as to win the admiration of General Hooker, who happened to be standing near, and who cheered the troops with the encouraging shout of, "Go in, my Illinois boys." The next afternoon it was ordered forward, and, at 4 o'clock, while in column was charged by a rebel force.

Both officers and men of the regiment conducted themselves gallantly, and rendered valuable services, losing one man killed, six mortally wounded and forty wounded. Pressing the rebels, it again came upon them at Cassville, Ga., on the 19th, but did not get into a fight, as the rebels left. Again, following on the 23d, and, on the 25th got into a hot and heavy fight at New Hope Church. Among the wounded at this place were Adjutant Padgett, Lieut. Hardin and Lieut. (afterward Captain) Belt, who subsequently died of his wounds.

After this, the regiment bore an honorable share in the various manoeuvres around Kennesaw and Pine Mountains, losing one killed and five or six wounded. During the battle of Kulp's farm, June 22, it supported Battery I, First New York, which did signal execution during the fight. June 27, lost Lieut. Dimm who was killed on the skirmish line. After the rebels evacuated Kennesaw was engaged in the pursuit, and, on the 6th of July, took position on Chattahoochee Heights, where the regiment remained eleven days.

July 17, crossed the river and, on the 20th, just after crossing Peach Tree Creek, the rebels assailed the Corps with terrible force. Forming line under fire the enemy was held at bay and their charges repelled until 8 p. m., when he abandoned the attack and returned to his fortifications. In this engagement five were killed and 35 wounded. Among the killed was Captain Thomas B. Wolf. The morning report, next morning, showed only 120 effective men for duty, having left Bridgeport with 365 men.

July 22, took position in front of Atlanta—the regiment, supporting Battery I, First New York, in which position it remained until the 25th of August, when it was ordered back to Chattahoochee Bridge, which the Corps was to guard while the rest of the army swung into the rear of Atlanta.

September 2 the regiment was sent out on a reconnaissance (together with the Thirteenth New Jersey and One Hundred and Seventh New York), and claims the honor of having been the first regiment that entered Atlanta, Ga., after its fall, which occurred on the second anniversary of its muster into service. It remained in Atlanta until the destruction of that place—most of the time having charge of the fire department.

November 15, started on the "great march," and participated in all its toils, its trials and its triumphs; and, whether as advance guard, driving rebel cavalry before it, or as rear guard, pulling wagons out of the mud or corduroying roads over unfathomable mud holes, the One Hundred and First Illinois always did its duty so well as to win high commendation from its Brigade and Division commanders. The story of that march is about the same for all regiments, and need hardly be repeated. The regiment reached Savannah and entered the place December 22, 1864.

January 17, 1865, crossed over into South Carolina, and went through the great campaign of the Carolinas, participating in the battles of Averysboro and Bentonville, losing only one man wounded.

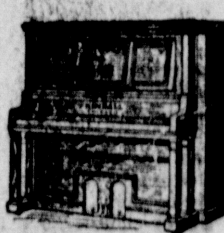

March 24, entered Goldsboro, and, on the 15th of April, entered Raleigh, where the regiment remained until the surrender of the rebel army, after which, on the 30th, it started overland for Richmond, Va., which was reached May 8. Here it remained until the 11th, when it marched through Richmond and took up the line of march for Alexandria, where it arrived on the 19th.

DECATUR EXPERT SAYS MILLIKIN WILL WIN TOURNEY

Says Ashmore's Men Have Great Advantage—Places Illinois College Eleventh as to Team Finish.

This is the time of the year when experts are figuring on the outcome of the inter-collegiate basketball tourney to be held in Decatur soon. According to the way the schedule has been fixed it is certain that some teams are greatly favored and given good big boosts toward finishing ahead of their opponents in the honor list. While Illinois college has been running up against some heavy teams with disastrous results at times they give evidence of splendid team work and to figure out just what a squad will do when the tourney is pulled off is hard to reckon. A Decatur expert figures that Millikin will be the winner and that Illinois college will finish eleventh. His story reads as follows:

First place—Millikin.
Second place—Wesleyan.
Third place—Bradley.
Fourth place—Normal.
Fifth place—Hedding.
Sixth place—Lincoln.
Seventh place—Shurtleff.
Eighth place—Charleston Normal.
Ninth place—Lombard.
Tenth—Williams and Vashit.
Eleventh place—Illinois college.
Twelfth place—Eureka.

Several Decatur basketball experts who would not allow their names to be used, recently made the above selections of the probable standing of the teams at the finish of the college basketball tournament to be held at the J. M. U. gymnasium on March 6, 7, and 8.

It is generally agreed that Millikin, Wesleyan, Bradley and Normal will make a hot fight for the top and Hedding will also make a hard run. Just how the others will stand is not so definitely known, though all the lower teams on the list are considered considerably weaker than the first five.

There are two principal reasons why Millikin's chances of winning the tournament are better than any of the others.

First, the J. M. U. will have a larger squad of players on hand to draw from than any of the other teams because the tournament will be staged at home. Last year the varsity players were used in all the early games and were worn out when the championship contest was reached.

Second, the Millikin players will be more accustomed to the peculiarities of the floor than any of the others. The Millikin gym is anywhere from fifteen to thirty feet longer than the gymnasiums in which the other college teams practice. This has a marked effect on the "wind" of the newcomers.

From the class of basketball which is being exhibited in the college games this winter, some fast contests are expected in the tournament. Every team will be out to win and it is possible that a "black horse" may be developed which will come to the front and win out at the last minute.

Copper shields are offered to teams winning first and second place in the tournament. The team finishing third will receive a handsome banner.

Why Don't You Get a Free Farm In Wyoming?

The new homestead law makes it easy to own a farm now. It offers just the opportunity the farmer, the renter, the farm hand and many others who want to establish themselves upon farms of their own have been looking for. You can now secure title to an irrigated government farm or a Mondell 320 acre free homestead in three years and at the same time be away from the farm five months each year. Will you be one of those who will take advantage of Uncle Sam's generosity and become the owner of a farm along the new lines of the Burlington Route in Wyoming?

This matter is worth thinking about. In fact, if interested, I would be glad to have you write me about it. And when you write, be sure to remind me to send your copy of the folder describing these lands.

I will run a personally conducted homeseekers' excursion to points in Wyoming on the first and third Tuesdays of each month. It won't cost much to go out and inspect these farms and it might mean a lot to you. As you have something to gain and nothing to lose, why not arrange to do this?

Keeping Down The Cost

The best way to keep down fuel cost is to buy the right coal. We learned the facts about coal quality from many mines before we placed our orders. We wanted the best Illinois coal and we have it for you. Big, lumpy, clean, Carterville and Springfield coal at the prevailing prices.

RAILROAD NOTES.

On or about March 1, the accounting department of the C. B. & Q. lines west of the Missouri river, now located at Omaha, Neb., will be transferred to Chicago and consolidated with the "lines east" accounting departments, now quartered in the new Burlington building, 547 West Jackson boulevard.

The Omaha offices have done the auditing for all the system west of the Missouri river, 4,528 miles of line.

The change will necessitate the removal of over 200 employees to Chicago. The employees will be moved by the company.

Traction Company Sleeper Record.

During the year of 1912 the Illinois Traction System carried 40,699 people on its sleeper trains. These were carried between Peoria and St. Louis and Springfield and St. Louis. These figures show the popularity of the Traction sleepers and the great amount of high class travel between Peoria and St. Louis. The sleeper business on the Traction has grown to such an extent that orders have been placed for an additional sleeper to carry the overflow.

Up to the last month the Illinois Traction has had the distinction of being the only electric railroad in the world to operate sleepers. These were built after special designs and they embodied many novel improvements, such as windows in the upper berths, safety deposit boxes, longer berths and other innovations. Now the honor will have to be shared with the electric line in Oregon. The Portland railway and Light Company, operating two hundred miles in Oregon, have just had delivered two sleepers modeled after those patented by the Illinois Traction System. When H. E. Chubbuck, vice president of the Illinois Traction, first proposed sleepers, doubt was expressed by interurban men generally as to their success. The growth of their popularity on the Traction and their adoption by another great electric railroad goes to show that they pleased the traveling public.

Statement From President—Regarding rumors of retrenchment on the Alton, President Worthington, said that some curtailment is being made at the Blooming shops, both in skill and ordinary labor, but that this does not involve more than a few hundred men. "It is only temporary and in the nature of course of procedure when short work is being caught up," said he. "In the last six months we have spent more than $100,000,000 in deferred maintenance. The men will be put to work again very shortly. Business is good over the system and earnings are making a favorable showing."

Returning Foreign Coal Cars—In order to reduce the per diem charges incurred when foreign cars are handled, the Alton officials have decided to rush all foreign coal cars to their home lines and orders were issued yesterday to send home all such equipment, except those of the Northwestern and Illinois Midland. It is believed that the rush of coal traffic is about over and that the loading at the mines from now on can be taken care of with the cars owned by the Alton. The operators report that the orders for fuel are becoming lighter, and with the return of warm weather, a marked falling off in traffic is thought certain.

WILL DECIDE LIQUOR

SHIPMENT BILL MONDAY

Sheppard-Kenyon Measure Will Come to a Vote in Senate—Prohibit Shipment of Liquor into Dry Territory.

Washington, Feb. 8.—In accordance with an agreement reached in early part of last month, the United States senate on Monday will vote on the Sheppard-Kenyon bill, which prohibits the shipment of liquor into States where prohibition laws are in effect. The bill which will reach its final vote on Monday was originally presented by Senator Kenyon, of Iowa, and was reported favorably from the Judiciary Committee of the senate. In its present form it provides that any state shall have full control over liquor which have been shipped in interstate commerce from the moment of their arrival within the borders of that state.

Few questions that have engaged the attention of Congress in recent years have occupied more of the time of the committees of the two houses, and have brought to this city more men and women from all parts of the country to urge its adoption, or to oppose it, than this bill, which involves some highly intricate and important constitutional questions. The problem is not new, but has occupied the attention of Congress off and on for many years.

When the question was before the Judiciary Committee several years ago the majority of the committee decided that, in view of the fact that no State has as yet passed laws which prohibit the person from receiving and consuming liquors, it is not within the province of congress to enact laws which take from such consignments of liquor their character as interstate shipments, and subject such shipments to the police powers of the several states. It is true that many states have laws which prohibit the manufacture and sale within their borders of intoxicating liquors. But it has not yet been disclosed that such laws reach the case of a citizen of such prohibiting state, who may purchase liquor from another state and have it shipped to him for his own use, and with no intent on the part of the buyer to violate the laws of his state enacted against the manufacture and sale within such state of intoxicating liquors.

The point has been made in connection with this discussion that until every state in the Union has enacted laws which prohibit the manufacture and sale of liquors, or until a state actually prohibiting drinking by any citizen within its borders, it is not possible for Congress, even making allowance for the broad powers embraced within the commerce clause of the Constitution, to pass laws which shall attach State laws or of interstate commerce or which contain the elements of the proposition that interstate commerce may be interfered with either by Congress or by the state in the transportation of products that are not subject to such inhibition as has been imposed by congress upon diseased food, lotteries, tickets, explosives or other articles notoriously recognized as injurious to the public health and safety as to be legitimate objects of the laws of congress against the transportation of such articles in the commerce between the states.

The importance of this question extends beyond the proposition of respecting the evils of liquor drinking or the sale of intoxicants among the people of any community. It is a question of Federal power under the commerce clause of the United States Constitution. If the power of Congress may be extended to include prohibitions or articles that are recognized as legitimate objects of traffic under the laws of the different states where it is the end to be, and what is the precise limitation upon the power of Congress in dealing with commerce between states?

The opinions of the lawyers concerning the questions involved in the bill are so conflicting that it is impossible to adduce from them any light upon the constitutionality of the proposed law. In the Congress of two years ago the able lawyers of the Judiciary Committee, who included such distinguished men as the present Secretary of State, Mr. Knox; Senator Rayner, of Maryland, who recently passed away, and Senators Bacon of Georgia, Nelson of Minnesota, and others, reported directly upon this question upholding non-control by Congress.

The courts of the different States and the Supreme Court of the United States have from time to time given opinions bearing upon the questions involved in the proposed law and have cleared up some obscure points in dispute, but the vital question whether liquor, shipped from a dealer in one state direct to a consumer in another state, may be Congress be subjected to the law of the latter state before the shipment of liquor has reached the purchaser, will eventually have to be decided by the Supreme Court.

WRITES FROM FLORIDA.

Saint Augustine, Fla.

Editor Journal: Some people will tell you there is nothing worth seeing at Saint Augustine, but don't you believe it. Any one who loves antiquity or is a student of history will find many interesting things here that are worth seeing.

All who have studied history know that the Spaniards came to this part of the world looking for gold; that their appetites were very avaricious on this one item; that they were hard to satisfy when it came to the question of the yellow stuff that looks good to all of us. We would have been glad if this appetite had passed with the cavaliers, with the long moustache and long sword and left the land free from that curse avarice; but it is in the air, in the soil and in the blood of the people. They are looking out for the dollar in your pocket and devising plans how they can get it, and they generally manage to have things come their way, too.

The modern part of the town is well built, but the older part is the most fascinating on account of its antiquity and uniqueness. In the older part the streets are very narrow, one or two no wider than a long armed man can reach, touching the house on either side with the tips of his fingers; in others the upstairs porticos almost meet. In these streets there are no pavements on the side for the pedestrians; all take to the middle of the street and fight for the right of way, and still there is no confusion. We went down St. George street this morning when the traffic was the heaviest; there were hundreds of pedestrians mixed with all kinds of vehicles and all seemed to think the street plenty wide enough. We remarked to Mrs. Mc. that we would like to see one of our Morgan county boys drive a load of hay down St. George street. The streets are well paved and kept clean, with good car service in every direction.

You would not expect us to tell you all about this place in one letter and we do not intend to write but one from here, so we will try to pick up the things that will interest you the most and you can draw on your imagination for the balance. The hotel system is immense; there are three here that makes a fellow open his eyes as well as his pocket book. They are piles of masonry, with the most highly decorated lawn, flowers, palms, vines and fountains, with lovely serpentine walks that one can almost get lost in. The decorations and furniture inside are in keeping with the outside. These three hotels are the Ponce de Leon, Alameda and the Alcazar; a description of one will answer for all three. We visited the Alcazar and found it worthy of any one's inspection. This hotel occupies a whole block, facing the Ponce de Leon. It is finished in the Spanish renaissance; adaptations of the Moorish architecture are incorporated in the building decorative schemes. The dining room looks out upon the inner court, which, in the evening, is illuminated by softly colored electric lights, turning the scene to a fairyland spectacle. We went in and talked with the clerk, but we walked very easy for fear he would charge us for the dust we kicked up. He gave us permission to go over the house, which we did. We saw the guests in the parlor and met others on the promenade. The ladies like to look like butterflies with their wings tied down. We saw dresses that would take a Morgan county farm to pay for one and then some. But with all this finery and feathers we would not have traded positions with them if they had given us the hotel too boot. We hurried Mrs. Mc off the scene for fear she would want a dress like some of those we saw on those butterflies. What are rates per day? Very reasonable, from $20 to $150 per day. We are glad to inform you all that there are others of less pretensions and lower fares, from $2.50 up and rooms nicely furnished for from $5 up per week. We are camped in a lovely spot on Bay street, where the lighthouse on Anastasia Island, four miles across the bay, shines directly into our bedroom, giving light enough on clear nights to undress by. We are so close to the bay that we can throw our tobacco ends into the bay from our window, giving the fish the advantage of our refuse.

As we have said, there are many old relics here, the oldest house in America, the old slave market, the oldest school house, the oldest fort, and above all, in real importance, is the old spring of eternal youth, founded by Ponce de Leon in 1513. We did not inquire whether the Spanish cavalier planted the spring or found it doing business at the old stand. If we remember our history lessons rightly, the Spanish gentleman never set his bright eyes on this great spring, as history says he did still hankering for a sight and drink of its pure and youth giving limpid waters. They will tell you anything in St. Augustine for a nickel and then charge you another for swallowing the bait.

We were in the oldest house, where the Spaniards landed their treasure; saw the treasure room, but it was empty and we did not get a single doubloon. This house was also used for the first jail, but we cannot see that by visiting this old historical jail; it would be any the less disgraceful to get into a modern jail, therefore we will be satisfied to stay on the outside. There is a fine beach here, about seven miles from the city. You cross the bay on a toll bridge to the Island of Anastasia, where the breakers come in strong. The first time we visited this beach we thought it was equal to Long Beach, California, but on our second trip we did not like it so well. In one respect is more picturesque; you can see the surf ten miles out but the waves do not come to Long Beach in as good line nor so high as at Long Beach. The lighthouse is also on this island. The Spaniards built a light house in the same place at an early date, but it was a very crude affair compared with the present one. Our government built the present house in 1871.

It is an octagon at the foundation and for ten or twelve feet high, when it takes a cylinder shape. It is 165 ft. high and you can get to the top by a spiral stairway, all of iron, in 223 steps. We mounted these steps without a rest and felt none the worse for our effort, but we came down easier than we went up. The lamp in this lighthouse is one of the finest in the United States, costing $40,000. It weighs 3,000 pounds and is so nicely balanced that one can revolve it with one finger. It is lighted every evening at sunset and extinguished at sunrise; the machinery revolves it at one revolution every three minutes and every time it faces the ocean it flashes a bull's eye and the same on the land. A ship at sea, 25 miles from this light, by counting the revolutions and timing them can tell exactly where she is, for there is no other light in the United States that is timed as this one is. Anastasia Island is a low, lonesome place, covered with sand dunes, live oak, swamp cedar and bayonet palms. But there is one satisfaction to the tourist in respect to this island, beach and vegetation; the Spaniards did not bring them over and it is a consolation to know that we have some things that date prior to the Spanish occupation.

The finest ruins here are old Fort Marion, formerly Fort San Juan de Pinos and San Marco; was 191 years in building, and completed in 1756. This was a perfect piece of masonry, patterned from Spain, of that ancient date. We found all the details of a perfect fortification. We have read of it in history, walked down in the moat, which is now dry, crossed the drawbridge, saw the pulleys that used to raise the bridge in times of danger, saw the guard room and prison where light punishments were meted out to those cavaliers who became too gay, saw the chapel fastened in iron cages. If this old dungeon could talk, what a tale of cruelty it could unfold. A fine well of water is located in the inner court, insuring plenty of water in time of a siege, without exposing themselves to the enemy. The stairway from the court to the battlements is easy and the tread of the steps is eighteen inches wide. When on the battlements one has a fine view of the bay from whence all their enemies must come. The battlements are wide and roomy, where a thousand soldiers could take refuge and not be seen. Just outside the fort proper but behind the sea wall, is the old oven where they heated their cannon balls to a cherry red and hurled them at their enemies. This old fort is built of a peculiar substance called coquina, a mixture of sea shells and sand; nature did the miking, and like all of nature's works it has proved to be good for this building material, which is quarried on the island, has withstood the ravages of time for hundreds of years. The mortar used with this building product was lime mixed with the blood of oxen and we have no doubt that when ox blood was scarce the poor red man supplied the deficiency.

Well, we are going to tell one more of our experiences and then say good-bye. We walked out to the fountain of youth, which is located about one and a half miles from the center of the town, for the purpose of drinking out of the wonderful spring. We had plenty of opportunity to ride, but what did we care for getting tired; all we needed was strength enough to drink of the magic waters, then we would be young again and have strength to spare. We made the trip all right, heard all about the Cavalier Ponce de Leon, drank greedily of the water and felt very much rejuvenated. Mrs. Mc. ate a whole fish for dinner, with other things, and now we are wondering if it will be the right thing for us to shake her up and should get too gay. We are not cutting any baby teeth yet, but one of our gums is a little sore and we would not be surprised if a tooth comes out most any time.

Wish all of our friends were here to drink out of the fountain of youth, whether it did them any good or not, they could have a good time all the same.

We attended Sunday school and church at the M. E. Church South this morning. Had a good school and heard a good sermon by Rev. Mr. Fletcher. The people were very friendly to us and we appreciated it. Truly,

D. K. and Mrs. McCarty.
BRONCHITIS SUFFERER.

Takes Druggists' Advice With Splendid Results.

If any one should know the worth of a medicine, it is the retail druggist who sells it over his counter every day in the week, and is in a position to know what remedy gives the best satisfaction.

Mrs. Frank H. Ulme of West Sand Lake, N. Y., says: "For a number of years I was a great sufferer from bronchitis. Last July I had an attack which was more severe than any and my friends thought I could not recover from it. Then I was advised by my druggist to try Vinol, which I did with wonderful results. My cough has left me; I have gained in weight and appetite and I am as strong as ever I was. I advise all who have bronchitis, chronic coughs, or who are run-down to try Vinol." It is the combined action of the medicinal curative elements of the cod's liver, without oil, aided by the blood-making and strength-creating properties of tonic iron that makes Vinol so efficient in such cases.

Remember, we guarantee Vinol to do just what we say—we pay back your money if it does not. Lee P. Alcott, Druggist, Jacksonville, Ill., P. S. Stop scratching, our Saxo Salve stops itching. We guarantee it.

Manager Hunt of the Grand Theatre wishes to announce that he will exhibit the extraordinary feature film in five parts "From the Manager to the Cross" or "Jesus in Nazareth" for two days, Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 17 and 18. Mrs. Ben Francis the master Historian will lecture throughout the running of the films.

No great story has ever been told that has not awakened in the mind of hearer a desire to see actual scenes and characters that are woven into the tale.

This bears witness to the fact that the ear alone is not a sufficient medium for receiving knowledge. The sense of seeing must be allowed to play its part, and the striking accuracy and coloring that the Tissot scene with its actors must be thrown upon the retina of the eye, and only when we have thus visualized our impressions are we wholly satisfied. The life of Christ, as the most masterful and absorbing of all stories for both young and old, has been subject to innumerable attempts at illustration.

Tissot the great French painter went to the Holy Lands, and after years of painstaking observation and study, he gave the world over three hundred pictures of the life of Christ, and it was the desire of the Kalem company that this production should possess the same degree of pictures exhibit and with this idea in view, a company of forty-two players was selected trained and taken to Palestine and Egypt, with all the necessary movable scenery and effects, besides the members of the company carried with them a complete set of the Tissot pictures and learned commentaries upon the new Testament so that, as far as possible in advance, they might prepare themselves for the task before them, and after about six months of hard labor and an expenditure of $100,000 they were successful in placing before the world the most wonderful conception of the life of Christ ever produced.

The Keeley Cure for the Liquor Disease

Has No Rivals as Far as Results Are Concerned

The Keeley Institute, Dwight, Ill.

Beautiful location. Delightful surroundings. Finest accommodations. Fireproof. Equipped with every modern convenience for comfort and safety.

The Keeley Cure Is Permanent

"This is the twentieth anniversary of my reincarnation and release from the bondage of the Demon Rum. Completely cured—the accursed appetite never to return."

This is a sample letter; we have many, many thousands like it. But we never publish names of patients, without their consent.

In a number of instances we are allowed to use names of men who have been cured, as references, and will be glad to do so, and convince inquirers of the truth of our claims, if desired.

We manufacture and sell Home Remedies which cure the Tobacco Habit and many forms of nervous troubles.

Full Information on Request

Booklets and full detailed information sent in sealed, plain envelope on request.

You can save that brother, relative, friend, employee from ruin, disgrace and death? Will you do it?

Drunkenness Is a Disease

Dr. Leslie E. Keeley proved that drunkenness is a true disease. It affects the nerve cells, producing in them a demand for alcoholic food. And it paralyzes the sufferer's will power and ability to resist.

Not one man in a thousand can stop immoderate drinking of his own accord. No more than he can cure himself of smallpox or brain fever. He must have help!

How the Keeley Treatment Cures

The Keeley remedies cure by removing the artificial alcoholic appetite from the nerve cells, and restoring them to their natural condition.

The Keeley medicines are nerve tonics. They cause no sickness or nausea. They are absolutely non-injurious and leave no ill effects of any kind.

The "craving" for drink is not the disease. It is simply the symptom of the disease, just as a cough is a symptom of some irritation or inflammation. When the nerve cells are restored to their normal, healthy condition, the craving for alcohol disappears.

We also cure Opium, Morphine and other drug addictions. The drug is withdrawn gradually and there is no shock, collapse, prostration or sickness. Full particulars in plain, sealed envelope on request.

We have a Chicago office, Suite 906 Rector Building, 79 W. Monroe Street, where arrangements may be made.

Remarkable Catarrh Cure

Gets Right into the Affected Parts and Stops Gathering in Eyes, Noes, Throat and Lungs.

By a long series of elaborate experiments at the Swift Laboratory it is definitely known that catarrh can be cured by the simple process of inoculating the blood with antitoxic remedies that stop inflammatory conditions throughout the mucous linings of all the organs of the body. This is done with the famous Swift's Suro Specific, or as it is widely known, S. S. S. It is taken into the blood just as naturally as the most nourishing food. It spreads its influence over every organ in the body, comes through all the veins and arteries, enables all mucous surfaces to exchange inflammatory acids and other irritating substances for arterial elements that effectively cleanse the system and thus put an end to all catarrhal pollution. S. S. S. cleanses out the stomach of mucous accumulations, enables only pure blood-making materials to enter the intestines, combines with these food elements to enter the circulation in less than an hour.

You will soon realize its wonderful influence by the absence of headache, a decided clearing of the air passages, a steadily improved nasal condition, and a sense of bodily relief that proves how completely catarrh often infests the entire system. You will find S. S. S. on sale at all drug stores at $1.00 per bottle. It is a remarkable remedy for any and all blood affections, such as eczema, rash, lupus, tetter, psoriasis, boils and all scrofulous conditions. For special advice on any blood disease write in confidence to The Swift Specific Co., 137 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Do not delay to get a bottle of S. S. S. at your druggists.

Of Importance to Piano Buyers in This Vicinity

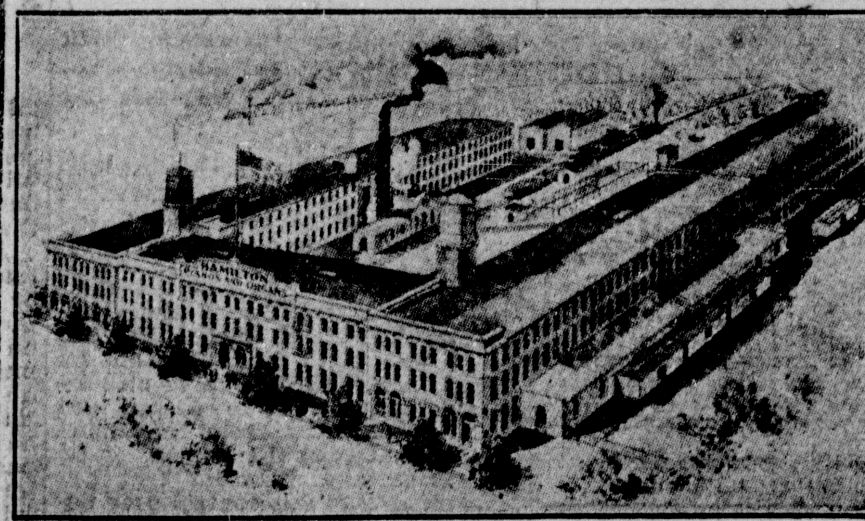

CHAS. A. SHEPPARD, Wholesale Distributor in Western Illinois for the famous Baldwin line of Pianos and Player-Pianos, with retail store at 314 East State St., Jacksonville, Ill., announces his One Price, No Commission system of selling Pianos, which means that salesman, music teacher, tuner, etc., commissions will be eliminated from this time on and the piano purchasers will not have to pay for excessive expenses and overhead expenses of the ordinary methods of marketing Pianos, or (sliding scale prices.)

The One Price Plan means that the lowest cash price will be placed on the pianos from the start and you will get exactly what you pay for and you will all be treated the same. This plan has been made possible only for the fact that I am handling the Baldwin product exclusively, both wholesale and retail, in this territory. For the first time in the history of Piano selling in Jacksonville you can buy a piano Safely whether you are an expert judge of workmanship and material or not. This means 100 cents worth of Piano quality for every dollar you pay, whether a piano at $200 or one at $550. Come in and let us tell you more about the One Price, No Commission Plan.

Methods of Reform.
Through the efforts of the national association a number of affiliated state associations of piano merchants have been organized, and through them it is intended to carry on with the smaller piano merchants the various measures of reform in the hope that by publicity, education and by legislative enactment, the various measures for the public protection for which the N. A. of P. M. of A. has been so valiantly fighting, will eventually be accomplished.

Realizing that the old sliding scale method of pricing pianos—the get all you can and take as little as you have to pay of selling—is an aid to the dishonest piano dealer, the national association through its leaders, has been for some time waging a campaign for the adoption by its members of what is known as the one-price, plain-figure policy, which means the marking in plain figures of every piano in the merchant's store at the lowest selling price.

This plan has been adopted by the leading piano merchants of the country and those employing this method are warm in their praise of it. The manager of one house says:

The One-Price System.
"The one-price system reduces the opportunity of the fraudulent practices indulged in by houses employing multi-price methods to a minimum and establishes a bond of confidence between the buyer and the merchant which enables the buyer to buy and the merchant to sell without the necessity of the old time 'haggling', and the purchaser is assured of being able to buy a piano at its rightful value."

OUTLOOK OF I-M LEAGUE IS BAD

PEKIN WILL SOON DECIDE WHETHER CITY WILL STICK.

Fans Over Circuit Discuss Chances of Making the Grade During Coming Season—Semi-Pro Team Top Canton Suggested.

Many of the Jacksonville fans have been interested lately in the chances of getting a berth in the Illinois-Missouri league for the coming season. Several of the business men had thought that sufficient money could be raised and that it would not be a bad job to rebuild the old ball park. From present indications it would seem that the I-M league is on a rocky road and that probably some of its towns will be consumed by another league. The following story from the Canton Register relative to the condition of the league follows:

Baseball's future in Pekin will be decided at a banquet to be held within the next two weeks according to the plans made by the meeting of the stockholders of the Pekin Amusement company, held Wednesday evening in Pekin.

Reports were presented from the officers, showing the receipts and disbursements and the amount of outstanding claims. The light attendance of last year was a surprise to many.

A committee composed of Thad W. Rodecker, J. T. Conahan and R. E. Collins was appointed at the Wednesday night meeting to make the arrangements for the banquet and speakers, who will present the question of continuance of league baseball.

The banquet will be held for the purpose of getting all of the fans in Pekin together for a big, rousing, meeting to see to just what extent the officers and directors of the club can depend on their support for the coming season.

Pekin has had two bad years, 1911 and 1912, but the prospects are for a revival of interest this year among the Celestials, consequently it is hoped that some way may be devised whereby Pekin may retain its franchise in the I-M league.

Chances Grow Slim.
Canton's chances for a team in organized baseball grow fainter and fainter each day and almost everyone is either interested in something else to the exclusion of baseball, or having put the sport out of their minds altogether.

It is openly said by many influential promoters and fans, and expressed with conviction, that it would be far better for Canton if no attempt was made to retain its berth in the I-M league and that we drop out of baseball for a year.

Rock Island dropped out of the Three-eye, Hannibal, Keokuk and Galesburg from the Central and Jacksonville is not in any league. These cities will doubtless attempt to get back in another league soon and with Monmouth and Kewanee, who will not stand another season in the Central and Pekin and Macomb will make nine cities within reasonable distance, which could be organized into another Class D league with reasonable chances for success in another season.

Only Two Cities Alive:

Interest in baseball affairs all over the battered, old Illinois-Missouri circuit seems to have reached the dead level and from reports, Pekin and Streator are really the only cities which are alive to the situation.

No strenuous efforts are being made to put teams in the field in other cities than these and the condition in these towns seems to be the same as in Canton, although they are still "kidding" themselves into the belief that some miraculous thing will happen to furnish them with the funds to commence anew.

In Lincoln, home of the "Abe's" pennant-winners of 1912, the fans and directors are taking a stolid and indifferent view of the situation. In Champaign "dope" artists are attempting to stimulate enthusiasm. In Kankakee no great amount of baseball frenzy is yet manifested.

In Pekin the fans seem anxious to be represented in the two-state league and in Streator they are willing and anxious to get back in the game, although financially badly bent after their first year's experience in league ball.

Semi-Pro Team.

As it is no interest is taken in baseball here and no one seems to feel that we are greatly in need of the game. A semi-pro team it is thought will answer the demand for the game this season with perhaps a little amateur league.

Mattoon does not want Canton's berth in the I-M league, the reason ascribed being that there are too many of the "knot-hole" variety of fans in the I. C. city and that they feel unequal to the task of raising the necessary means to put a club in the field in organized baseball.

Clinton may awaken and take Canton's berth after a year's absence from the game, but this is merely conjecture and it is very probable that an entire new league will be organized in the eastern end of the state this year to which end the Kankakee, Streator and Champaign promoters, fans and newspapers are working.

Hearings in the suit to dissolve the United States Steel corporation are to be resumed Monday. The government has practically concluded its introduction of evidence. The corporation will now present its side of the case. Among its witnesses probably will be Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the corporation; James A. Farrell, president, and Henry C. Frick and other of the directors.

The two houses of congress will meet in joint session in the hall of the house on Wednesday for the purpose of counting the electoral votes and formally declaring the election of Woodrow Wilson and Thomas R. Marshall as president and vice-president, respectively.

Monday morning is the time set for the start of the suffragists from New York city on their "hike" to Washington. The marchers expect to arrive in the capital on March 1 in time to participate in the great suffragist parade and demonstration to be held on the eve of the inauguration of President Wilson.

Wednesday, the anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, will be observed as usual in many parts of the country. One of the most notable features of the celebration will be the dedication of Lincoln hall, a magnificent building erected at the University of Illinois as a memorial to Lincoln.

Progressive leaders from all parts of the country will attend the Lincoln birthday banquet at the Hotel Astor in New York city. Colonel Roosevelt and former Senator Beveridge of Indiana will be the principal speakers.

Missouri Republicans will hold a banquet in Kansas City, with Governor Eberhart of Minnesota as the chief speaker. Baron Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, will speak at the banquet of the Lincoln Memorial association in Springfield, Ill., and Senator Borah of Idaho will be heard at a similar gathering in Baltimore.

The late Vice-president James S. Sherman will be honored by memorial services in the senate Saturday. President Taft, his cabinet and a large number of distinguished people will attend.

Michigan Republicans will hold a state convention at Lansing Tuesday to name candidates for the supreme bench and minor state officers to be voted for at the spring election.

Brig. Gen. James Allen, chief signal officer of the army, will reach the age limit for active service Thursday. On the same day Rear Admiral Joseph B. Murdock will be retired from the navy on account of age.

Other events of the week will include the schedule meetings of the American and National baseball leagues in New York city, the meeting of the legislative assemblies in Alberta and Nova Scotia, and a special convocation of Queen's university, at Kingston, Ont., to confer the honorary degree of LL. D. on the Duke of Connaught, governor general of Canada.

SENATOR OLIVERS DAUGHTER A BRIDE.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—St. John's church was the scene of the first Lenten wedding of the season today, when Miss Jean Oliver, daughter of Senator George T. Oliver of Pennsylvania, became the bride of Lieut. Commander Edward McCauley Jr., of the United States navy. Naval uniforms lent brilliancy to the wedding.

The bride was given away by her father. Her only attendant was Mrs. J. Hopkins Smith, formerly Miss Polly Morton, whose father, Paul Morton, was secretary of the navy in the Roosevelt administration.

The bridegroom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward McCauley of this city. He saw active service in the Spanish-American war, being one of the youngest officers participating in the battle of Manila bay. He is now on duty in Philadelphia.

Lieut. Commander McCauley had William F. Hitt as his best man. The ushers were Lieut. Commander C. R. Miller, Surgeon Carl Ohnesorge, Lieut. R. P. Rodgers and Lieut. J. P. Jackson, all of the navy; Frederick Hale of New York; Augustus K. Oliver, brother of the bride; Clarence L. Hay and Reginald Hildekoper, both of Washington.

LETTER FROM BERLIN.

(By Associated Press.)

Berlin, Feb. 8.—Sharp criticism and unstinted praise of labor and social conditions in the United States characterize an article by Dr. Gustav Stresemann, a former prominent member of the Reichstag and a well known economist, who has just returned from a tour of investigation through America.

The conditions in most American factories in respect to safety are "simply horrible", the doctor declares, and any German factory inspector would be astounded if he could observe the dangers to which majority of workmen are exposed. Too much stress also has been laid, both in Germany and America, on the higher wages paid in the United States. Considering that the purchasing power of a dollar is equal to from two to two and one-half marks, and the further act that the American laborer must himself make provision for old age or incapacity, it may be doubted if he is better off than the German workman.

Dr. Stresemann's strictures on factory conditions, however, is the sharpest of any criticism in his article, and he is full of praise for other phases of general economic conditions, or instance he finds America in advance of Germany. When, for example, 39 per cent of the inhabitants of Detroit occupy their own homes he says, it is a high thing for Germany to send over a commission to find out how it is done.

The Reichstag's demand that energetic measures be adopted for stopping dueling in the army meets with no support from the Federal Council. The resolutions adopted by the Reichstag demanded that officers who fight a duel or carry a challenge be dismissed from the army, but the Bundesrat rejected this plan as class legislation. It would be equivalent to say, to an exceptional law against army officers, inasmuch as civilian duelists cannot be punished in this way. Moreover, dismissal from the army is a dishonoring punishment carrying with it the loss of pension rights, and the Bundesrat thinks that this would involve an "unreasonable hardship for an officer, who, out of ideal motives, risks his life in defense of his honor."

The Reichstag further demanded that an officer who refused to fight a duel should in no case be dismissed from the army on that ground, but the Bundesrat replies that "the appointment and dismissal of an officer requires, according to the constitution, the decision of the Crown."

LETTER FROM LONDON.

(By Associated Press.)

London, Feb. 8.—The first tangible results of the efforts of the English committee for the celebration of the hundred years of peace between the English-speaking races, are found in the purchase of an option on Sulgrave Manor, the ancestral home of the Washington family, and the securing of permission from the abbey authorities to erect a statue of Washington in Westminster Abbey.

Although both of these projects were announced as part of the British plan for the celebration of the British-American peace centenary in 1914-15, the negotiations for their accomplishment have been secret and the results have not yet been made public.

Meetings are being held in England this week as the result of which it is hoped to announce the formation of the biggest industrial combine this country has ever seen. This will be the amalgamation of the co-operative societies with the trade unions.

The fusion, if accomplished, will bring together two and three-quarter million co-operators with two and a quarter million members of organized labor. The capital affected is enormous. To the millions invested by labor unions must be added the $185,000,000 share capital of the co-operators and their $90,000,000 on loan and reserve, backed up by constantly increasing profits on the turnover. Last year the co-operative enterprise amounted to $580,000,000. But this is to be more than a fusion of capital, and if the plan succeeds united action will be taken industrially, socially and in parliamentary matters. In many respects the work of the separated bodies now overlaps and money spent in educational and social objects is often wasted.

The supreme purpose of the amalgamation will be the solution of labor unrest by the workers themselves. All fields of effort will be entered by the new organization, which will add to the present funds of the co-operators the capital of the unions.

Dr. Miller, lecturing before the London Medical society, has advocated flogging for drunkards. He declared that the present system of treating drunkenness judicially is all wrong, because it began at the wrong end. When a citizen is brought up for the first time on a charge of drunkenness, he is admonished and allowed to go; the second time he is fined, and the third time he is imprisoned. Exactly the opposite course should be pursued. The first time the man is clearly culpable, the second time he is less accountable for his condition, and the third time he is a chronic drunkard.

A strike, which is pronounced a blessing by the general public, is the novelty which London is now enjoying as the result of the taxicab drivers' refusal to pay the increase in price of gasoline. A few consistent taxi users who are unable to instantly summon their favorite vehicle grumble at the strike, but the ordinary citizen who during the present disagreeable weather travels underground is delighted because when he does emerge into the light of day he can cross the street without endangering his life.

The editor of a newspaper in Tomsk, Russia, has just been fined $150 for publishing an article dealing with the destitution of the inhabitants of the governmental district of Tomsk, where many hundreds of persons are on the verge of starvation as a result of the failure of crops. He was also notified that a repetition of "such false reports" would result in three months' imprisonment, without the option of fine.

Simultaneously with the publication of the judgment against this editor comes the report that the Russian minister of the interior has approved an appropriation of $650, "for the relief of the famine sufferers of the governmental district of Tomsk."

SUCCESSFUL ROOT AND HERB REMEDY.

The study of roots and herbs, their character and power over disease, was what led Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., to produce for woman's ills the most successful remedy the world has ever known, and while she passed to her reward some years ago, her work among suffering women is still carried on by trained assistants and many tons of roots and herbs are consumed annually in the manufacture of the now famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as originated by her.

THE WORLD'S LATEST FINANCIAL AND MARKET NEWS

BANK STATEMENT REVEALS BIG LOSS

LOSS OF NEARLY $1,000,000 CASH SHOWN IN TABLE.

Decrease of $7,867,000 in Excess of Cash Reserve is Also Shown—
Bankers Report Renewed Demand
For Funds From the Interior Particularly the Southwest.

(By Associated Press.)
New York, Feb. 8.—The changing tendency in the money situation, as revealed in the bank statement, overshadowed other developments of the day in the financial district. A loss of nearly $1,000,000 cash was shown in the actual table, and a decrease of $7,867,000 in excess of cash reserve. Preliminary estimates based on known movements of currency suggested a small loss of perhaps $2,000,000. A poor statement had been expected largely on account of the continued decline of gold through exports to France and Argentina, but the unexpectedly heavy cash loss indicated that some other influence was at work. Bankers explained this condition with the statement that there was a renewed demand for funds from the interior particularly the southwest. Some shipments to the interior last week, it was said, did not appear in the preceding bank statement so that the loss shown today reflected in reality the increased calls for funds from the interior during the last fortnight.

Call money rates remain on the easy basis of the last few weeks.
Although time money quotations have not changed substantially there is an appreciably firmer tone, and funds are no longer pressed on the market. Bankers said today that, in view of the renewed demand from the interior and the financial situation abroad, the outlook was for a contraction of credit. The export movement has taken $23,600,000 this year, with the probability of a further drain. Foreign exchange rates continue firm, being slightly higher today while the inquiry showed increased force.

The stock market trading was virtually without feature. Amalgamated copper, which rose a point, was the only one of the speculative favorites to move more than fraction-ally above or below yesterday's close. Trading fell off to the lowest point of the year and the general movement was insignificant. The underdone was firm throughout the session and such changes as occurred were mostly upward. Some of the less active issues moved more widely than the leaders.

The Great Sensation of the Chicago and New York Auto Shows

"The Paige 36"

$1275

$1275

$1275 Buys This Remarkable Car, Built Solely for Service

The extraordinary equipment of the Paige 36 includes Gray & Davis Electric Starting and Lighting System; Silent Chain Driven Motor Gears, Wheel Base 34x4 inch tiers; Left Side Drive Center; Center Control and Cork Insert Clutch.

We want you to know all about this car, for it today represents the "best" and the "most" for the money among all the countless cars on the market.

That's a broad, strong statement, but we mean it. Either this car is the best car, and the most car for its price or it isn't.

If it isn't then we are mistaken. If we are mistaken then this advertisement is a misrepresentation, and, according to our ideas, a misrepresentation in advertising is throwing away money.

One of the largest producers of automobiles has said we cannot sell this Paige "36" for $1275 without losing money on every car.

This car stands all by itself as extra value. Other cars of equal value may be produced next year or the year after, but there is no other car now that gives so much in fine construction, size, power, quality of materials, and equipment for its price.

In the first place, the Paige has become the leader in the medium price field primarily because of its motor. We don't believe as good a motor ever went into any other car selling at Paige prices.

The Paige "36" Motor is a further refinement and offers some marked advantages. It is a long stroke motor 4"x5". And it is powerful—36 actual horsepower—and quiet.

Our silent-chain drive (enclosed and lubricated) for cam shaft, pump and generator, costs more than ordinary gears but helps make this motor quiet—and easier running.

Notice the size of this car, too. Not a small automobile, but a really big car. "116" wheel base. The touring body is as roomy as probably any 5-passenger body you ever saw.

Then think of what it means when we give you a Paige Car equipped with the famous Gray & Davis Electric Starting and Electric Lighting System, with Bosch Magneto for ignition.

The Gray & Davis system is found on the best cars ranging in price from $3000 to $5000. The high-priced cars are featuring this system.

The Paige "36" was especially designed for the installation of the Gray & Davis system. It is built into the power plant—a part of it. Not merely added to it. The starter control is on the steering post. No simpler self-starting system has ever been perfected. A woman can operate it with ease and assurance. No surer starting system ever will be perfected, for this equipment starts the Paige "36" every time and starts it quickly.

Try to find some other car at a price like the Paige "36" price offering you a starting system that compares with this Gray & Davis system.

In having left-side drive and center control for the new "36" we are in step with the best of the high-priced cars.

It is the logical drive and control. Control by simple gear-shifting ball-pivoted rod.

In the "36" is continued the cork insert multiple disc clutch running in oil. There's no grab or jerk to this clutch. You don't find it on other cars in the Paige price field.

Coupled with the fine balance of this car and the luxurious cushions, the full elliptic rear springs add to its riding comfort. The big 14" brake drums of this car contribute to its safety.

The gasoline tank carried under the shroud dash and filled from outside is a convenience typical of this car.

All dash equipment—Speedometer, ammeter, carburetor adjustment magneto and lighting switches, etc., are imbedded flush in auxiliary dash, convenient to operator.

The equipment of the Paige "36" is unusual—Ventilating Windshield (built into body), Silk Mohair Top (tau lined), Top Boot and Curtains, Stewart Speedometer (revolving dial), 12" Electric Headlights, Electric Side and Tail Lights, Bosch Magneto, Five Demountable Rims, Robe and Foot Rails, Extra Tire Irons, License Brackets, Horn, Pump, Jack, Tools, etc., complete. Heavy Nickel Trimmings throughout.

PAIGE "25" $950.

This Paige 1913 Line also continues the Paige "25", Model Brunswick, touring car, $950, and Model Kenilworth, a roadster, $950. Regularly equipped in nickel trimming with rain vision windshield, silk mohair top, top boot and curtains, Stewart speedometer, 5 nickel and black enamel lamps, Prest-O-Lite tank, 5 demountable rims, extra tire irons, horn, pump, jack, tools, etc.

EDUCATIONAL NOTES.

State-aided industrial schools are now maintained in nineteen Massachusetts communities.

Austria's eight universities had 26,332 students last year, of whom 2,139 were women. The seven technical schools had 9,920 in attendance.

Plans have been started by the Deutscher Verein at Columbia university for the organization of a union of German student societies in American universities.

Nearly 2,000 titles in many languages make up the "Bibliography of the Teaching of Mathematics," by David Eugene Smith, of Teachers' college, Columbia university, and Charles Goldziner, of Budapest, Hungary. The bibliography has just been published for free distribution by the United States Bureau of Education.

Hookworm disease costs Arkansas more than one-fourth of its annual cotton crop, according to the Hon. George B. Cook, superintendent of public instruction. Physicians and teachers are cooperating vigorously with the state board of health in their campaign for rural sanitation in that state.

There are 635 colleges and universities listed by the United States Bureau of Education in the current Educational Directory. Ohio and Pennsylvania each have forty-two institutions of college rank, and New York and Illinois 33. Missouri has 28, Iowa and Tennessee 27, Virginia 25, North Carolina 22, Indiana and Kentucky 21, Georgia, 19, Kansas 19, and Massachusetts 18. The Massachusetts board of education has a deputy commissioner for vocational education. His duties include supervision of state expenditures in aid of vocational schools; definitions of standards of instruction; approval of courses, teachers, etc.; and, in general, the enlightenment of public opinion on this form of education.

There are 101 teachers of agriculture in the normal schools of the United States, according to figures compiled by the United States Bureau of Education. Eighteen of them teach agriculture alone; 72 teach agriculture in combination with one or more sciences; nine teach two other subjects; and one three other subjects. One normal school teacher handles agriculture in combination with the following: "Pedagogy, dietetics, history of education, civics, child study, and school management."

A bill providing for vocational continuation schools has been introduced in the Washington legislature. It provides for compulsory continuation schooling for six hours weekly, three years for boys and two years for girls, after the age of fifteen. The plan is somewhat similar to the Cooley proposal in Illinois, but differs in empowering the local school board to appoint the board to have charge of vocational training. In this and other respects it resembles the Wisconsin law enacted in 1911.

A moving picture film entitled "Tooth Ache" is one of the agencies employed by the National Mouth Hygiene association to demonstrate the importance of instruction in the care of the teeth. Dr. W. G. Ebersole, of Cleveland, Ohio, who is secretary of the organization, says: "I believe that if each child be taught to keep thoroughly clean and healthy the gateway to his system, the mouth, we shall have a healthier, more self-respecting, and all-around better class of citizens for the next generation." It is believed that "Tooth Ache" will help develop public interest in oral hygiene.

HEARD IN ADDRESS ON THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

Miss Barrows of the Faculty of Columbia University Speaks Before the Woman's Club.

Miss Barrows, instructor in household arts in the Teachers' college of Columbia university gave an address before the members of the Woman's club at Academy hall Saturday afternoon. The gathering was under the auspices of the Domestic Science Round Table. Mrs. W. A. Furr presided and the opening number of the meeting was a solo by Miss Beebe of the Woman's college. The speaker was introduced by Miss Clara Cobb.

Miss Barrows talked on the high cost of living. For a number of years the speaker has been a student of household economics and her words carried much weight. Miss Barrows said that the way people live has a great deal to do with the cost of living. A few years ago our fathers were willing to put up with inconveniences and cut out a great many luxuries, which have almost become essentials, to a large number of people now-a-days. Abraham Lincoln used to carry produce to market in a market basket and thus he saved the cost of transportation. Today most everything a person buys must be delivered, which adds to its cost. Even the smallest articles, ladies are not willing to carry home but must have them delivered at the door.

Our ancestors were content to eat the simpler foods but now we must have dainty things to eat. Of course the price of meat has risen but there are a great many things which we consume as food, which have practically remained the same. It is the part of the wise housewife to look carefully into the luxuries and see where they can be curtailed for in a great many instances these are the articles which make the bills go up. So many wholesome foods, containing great food value are within reach of the ordinary wage earner, but the times demand that extras are essential.

The housewife should acquaint herself with the value of different foods and a strict account along this line will be of inestimable worth in determining how the nickels can be saved. It is not always what looks the most tempting in the viand line that is the most nutritive. A table spread with food that makes muscle and brain material is worth more than that which makes a table appear pleasant to the eye.

Every consumer ought to be a producer. A shrewd farmer who takes groceries from the store leaves at the store enough produce to pay for what he gets and a margin besides. There are a great many ways in which the high cost of living can be reduced along this line. And again buying in larger quantities bring an additional saving. We give our sanction to higher prices when we ask the merchant for a small quantity.

Mrs. Barrows also laid particular emphasis on the housewife keeping an account of the receipts and expenditures of the household. By this method various wastes can be detected. This law holds good in the big business concerns and is just as important in running the ordinary home. There are economic forces at work over which the majority of people have no control. And yet the high cost of many articles, which are attributed to the so-called trusts and combinations, could easily be curtailed in the expense of the individual or home, if the desire was not so strong to keep up and make an appearance.

Constitution Amended.
At the business session of the club several amendments were made to the constitution. This work has been in the hands of a committee, composed of Mrs. J. N. Ward, Mrs. F. J. Heintz and Mrs. A. L. Adams, and they made their report yesterday and the same was adopted.

REMODELING WORK HAS BEEN FULLY COMPLETED.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton Graef Now Have Very Handsome West College Avenue Home.

One of the handsomest homes on West College avenue now is that of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Graef. During the summer of 1912 the work of remodeling their residence, 835 W. College avenue, was begun and it was only recently that the entire job was completed. The changes in the exterior are not nearly so great as those of the interior for while some of the lines of the old house are still visible from the outside, on the inside the transformation has been complete.

Entering the front door one finds himself in a tiled vestibule and this leads into the spacious hallway. This is separated from the parlor by a colonnade arch of handsome design. The general style of the interior is old mission and the finish of the parlor, hall and the stairway is quarter sawed oak. Special care was given in the selection of the wood and it shows a beautiful grain. In the parlor and in fact in all of the rooms upstairs and down the floors are of quartered oak, all giving evidence of the same careful selection.

Possibly the handsomest feature of the parlor is the broad fireplace on the west side. It is surmounted by a massive oak mantel and the tile used are Hartford Palace hand-made, of soft green shade, blending beautifully with the woodwork.

This room is separated from the dining room to the south by a sliding French door. The great case window on the west side of the living room makes it very light here and a broad window seat extends almost the whole length. Case window seats are used in the parlor also. The dining room is like the others, finished in oak and is exceptionally well lighted. The kitchen was included in the remodeling work and was made more spacious and convenient.

The bedrooms, children's playroom and bath room make up the second floor and the arrangement is excellent. Two of the sleeping rooms have windows in three sides. The bath room which is equipped with unusually handsome fixtures, has a tiled floor and walls finished with Keene's cement.

The house is heated with a vacuum steam system, said to be the first installed in Jacksonville, and the entire basement is concreted. The electric and gas fixtures are of colonial design, done in brass, and the whole interior is such that it delights the eye and impresses any visitor as a home where no comfort has been forgotten. Mr. and Mrs. Graef certainly have a residence of which they have good reason to feel proud and one which their many friends will enjoy with them. M. D. Fernandes had the general contract and C. W. Buckingham was the architect.

JOHN E. L. BRADBURY DIES

AT HIS HOME IN SPRINGFIELD

Former Alderman and Business Man of Jacksonville Passes Away.

Funeral services for John E. L. Bradbury, former alderman and business man of Jacksonville, were conducted from the late residence, 125 West Adams street, Springfield, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in charge of Rev. William Schulze, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church. Interment was made in Oak Ridge cemetery.

John Bradbury was born in England and moved to America with his parents when only 10 years of age. The family settled near this city and Mr. Bradbury resided here until twenty years ago. He served as alderman for two terms and for several years was in business on West Court street. For the past twenty years, the length of his residence in Springfield, Mr. Bradbury has been employed by the Utilities company, at that place. He has a large number of friends in this city who will learn of his death with deep regret.

SHOWS PROSPEROUS GROWTH.

The official statement of the Farmers State Bank and Trust company, printed in another column, shows that this bank of strength and character is constantly growing and maintaining at least 25 per cent of its deposits in cash in its own vaults or in city banks.

Its total deposits as shown by official statements were:

|---------------|-------------|
| Jan. 7, 1911 | $21,707.00 |
| Feb. 21, 1912 | 132,674.00 |
| Feb. 5, 1913 | 186,203.00 |

Which is an increase in deposits of forty per cent during the past year.

Its management offers the public the best there is in banking, an unexcelled banking service, all modern banking facilities and conveniences, the personal attention of its officers to the business of its patrons and invites the accounts of those who appreciate banking efficiency.

This bank was organized to fit the banking needs of this particular community and is building up a safe, substantial and conservative business on the basis of the character of the bank and the financial standing and banking experience of its directors. It does not resort to any unusual features to secure business, discouraging the employment of solicitors for accounts and other new methods not consistent with good banking, preferring to let the character of the bank and the standing of its directors in the community speak for it.

Its directors are A. L. French, president; D. Rees Browning, vice-president and trust officer; Frank J. Heintz, secretary and cashier; Chas. Frank Leach, Albert Crum, A. Clark Rice, Chas. S. French, Chas. S. Black and Walter S. Rice.
